9 Hurt On County Roads

MANGLED — The rear of this auto, driven by 19-year-old Steven Davis, Renick Ave., was damaged extensively early Saturday

Nine persons were treated for injuries, all minor, in four accidents on Pickaway County roads Saturday and Sunday.

Two Circleville teenagers were hurt Saturday when their car was struck in the rear by another auto at the junction of County Road 511 and Route 23, north of the city.

Steven E. Davis, 622 Renick Ave., and his 18-year-old passenger Brenda Boltenhouse, 457 Half Ave., were given emergency treatment at Berger Hospital Saturday following the 6:50 p.m. crash near the 84 Lumber Co. Miss Boltenhouse was treated for scalp lacerations and Davis for abrasions to his elbows and left foot. Both were released.

Cited by Highway Patrolman Rick Hollins was a 66-year-old Columbus man, Theodis evening after it was struck by a car driven by a 66-year-old Columbus man, Davis, and his passenger, Brenda Boltenhouse, suffered minor injuries. They were treated in Berger Hospital's emergency room.

Gamble, for failing to keep assured clear distance ahead. Hollins reported that Davis, 19, has stopped for traffic to clear before entering Route 23 when Gamble, also northbound, struck the young man's auto in the rear end, causing extensive damage.

GAMBLE is slated to appear in municipal court March 31 to face the traffic charge.

Three hours earlier Saturday, Ptl. Hollins investigated another injury accident, this one on Highway 23, three miles north of Route 22. It occurred just south of the point of the second crash.

Injury complaints were registered by Evelyn Heible and Kester Seagrave, 34, both of Columbus, and the driver, Constance P. Amos, 27, of Warrensville.

The accident occurred when a horse trailer towed behind an auto driven by Alvin Richard Newton of Worthington, age 31, broke loose from the hitch and collided with the Amos vehicle. The trailer, once free of the northbound towing vehicle, rolled across the median and into the southbound lanes, striking the car.

Ptl. Hollins of the Highway Patrol cited Newton for using an improper tow chain and scheduled him for an April 3 court appearance here.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Lowell Ferguson and Auxiliary Deputy Leon Sims investigated a single car crash 8 p.m. Saturday on Route 56 just east of the Zane Trail Rd. when a car swerved to avoid hitting a dog and overturned.

DRIVER of the small, foreign car, Rodney Price, 19, Groveport, told Ferguson he was driving southeast on Route 56, when he lost control of his car after trying to miss the dog. The car veered out of control 135 feet before flipping to its side.

Two passengers in the car were treated for injuries.

McCarthy, McGovern Provide Opposition

Illinois Critical For Muskie

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie is campaigning for a comeback in Illinois, while Eugene J. McCarthy and Sen. George McGovern seek votes in hopes of dealing a double blow to the Democratic presidential campaign of the demoted front-runner from Maine.

The three Democratic rivals campaigned across the state today in the windup of the third heat of the presidential primary season, with Muskie in need of big victories in a pair of contests.

He faces McCarthy Tuesday in a presidential preference vote which is not binding, and McGovern in a complex delegate selection contest which is.

The voters will be choosing 160 of Illinois' 170 delegates to the Democratic National Convention, by far the biggest crop of nominating votes at stake in early season primary contests.

At least half the delegates are expected to remain beyond the reach of either Muskie or McGovern. They will be elected from uncommitted slates controlled by the Democratic organization of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The presidential rivals are not bucking the mayor in his Chicago domain. Neither entered delegates in five city congressional districts where 56 will be elected. One of the delegate candidates will be Daley himself.

McGovern is running 104 delegate candidates in 19 of the state's 24 congressional districts. Muskie's organization has endorsed 105 delegate candidates in 17 districts, although there are 161 Democrats in the ballot listed as committed to the Maine senator.

There is no preference primary on the Republican side, but GOP voters will be asked to endorse 48 Republican National Convention delegates. All are committed to President Nixon except for seven who are running uncommitted.

McCarthy has concentrated his $250,000 campaign, which features a big television advertising push, on the preferential contest. It is his first campaign of 1972, and if he can't make a substantial showing, it could be his last.

Urge Relaxed Auto Emission Regulations

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government report suggesting less stringent auto pollution controls has been praised by the president of Ford Motor Co. and criticized by Ralph Nader.

The report prepared for the White House proposed a "two-car strategy" which would require cars with a low level of harmful emissions for areas with heavy air pollution, but permit lower-cost autos with higher emission levels in areas relatively free of air contaminants.

Existing standards for 1976 autos would penalize three out of 10 car buyers, the report said.

It also recommended "a reasonable degree of flexibility" in enforcing the regulations.

The report was prepared by a scientific advisory committee and released Sunday by the White House Office of Science and Technology.

Consumer advocate Nader labeled the report "a mockery of scientific integrity and competence and a penny-ante caricature of think tank studies."

Ford president Lee A. Iacocca called it "a valuable source of information... on the cost-effectiveness and practicality of regulations that affect the future welfare of all Americans."

It estimated that the average increase in the retail price of an automobile by 1976 would be $350 for compliance with emission control, plus $523 for meeting safety standards.

Indiana Political Activity Rises

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Presidential hopefuls and Hoosier congressional candidates have until Thursday to file for Indiana's May 2 primary but the campaign's already begun, as politics took center stage in Indiana over the weekend.

U. S. Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, seeking the Republican nomination for president, campaigned in Indianapolis and Fort Wayne and said President

Nixon's answer to the busing problem is "no solution at all."

Ashbrook, offering Hoosier voters a conservative alternative to Nixon, said the president's proposed moratorium on busing is "an attempt to sweep the busing issue under the rug until the election."

Ashbrook has not filed for the Indiana primary but has said he intends to.

The 42-year-old six-term Ohio congressman urged a constitutional amendment banning all forced busing for racial balance.

The Indiana president of the NAACP also expressed disagreement with Nixon's proposals on busing but said the president's action "represents chaos in government" and seeks "to overturn the Supreme Court decision of 1954."

"Black children are the victims of politicians and they are being used as political footballs," Odel Thorn Jr. told a conference of NAACP Indiana chapter representatives in Greencastle.

Thorn said the NAACP "will continue to fight for quality education and desegregation."

Also expected to make his entry in the Indiana primary is Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who already has stirred emotions in the Hoosier state with his primary election victory in Florida.

State Democratic Chairman Gordon St. Angelo termed Wallace a "fascist" who uses the busing issue to cover anti-black feelings. And Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, campaigning in Indiana after the Florida contest, said Wallace stands for "social injustice."

Long Cheng Endangered By Reds

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — North Vietnamese troops backed by tanks and heavy artillery have launched an all-out offensive against the base at Long Cheng, near the Plain of Jars, informed sources said today.

A North Vietnamese force estimated at the equivalent of two divisions routed Thai and Laotian defenders from all positions in the vicinity of Sam Thong, six miles northwest of Long Cheng, and seized control of a position on Skyline Ridge, overlooking the Long Cheng airstrip, the sources said.

"The situation is critical," one official source said. Other sources said Long Cheng is "all but lost."

The offensive, believed to involve virtually all North Vietnamese troops in the Plain of Jars area, began early Saturday morning with simultaneous attacks against Thai and Laotian positions.

Communist units were pounding Long Cheng with log-range 130mm artillery from the southern tip of the Plain of Jars, the sources said.

Between 15 and 20 battalions are believed committed to the offensive. A North Vietnamese battalion has about 300 men.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said air strikes by American air force F4 Phantoms have "increased considerably" in support of Long Cheng's defenders and B52s are "probably" bombing enemy positions.

U.S. Troops Strength In Vietnam Drops

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that American troop strength in South Vietnam dropped by 5,900 men last week to 108,600. It was the biggest weekly reduction in nearly two months, a spokesman said.

President Nixon has ordered total strength reduced in South Vietnam to 69,000 by May 1.

Roundtown

GOOD things came in pairs Sunday for the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department... Deputy Earl Kuhn and his wife Barbara celebrated their 18th wedding anniversary and Deputy John Bost and wife Karen were honored for their sixth year of marriage.

SHADES of the old Peanut gang!... Numerous trees about Roundtown have taken on bright-colored decorations much to the dismay of local youngsters... One old maple on Elm Ave. is earning the title of "Kite-Eater" like Charlie Brown's, already claiming two of the air-borne flyers...

This weekend was apparently just right for kite flyers of all ages as evidenced by the number of bright-colored kites drifting about the sky.

AREA senior citizens may soon realize their ambitions for a center in Circleville... Two obstacles are to be surmounted... One is a location and the other $4,000 in pledges, payable during the year, to meet the government allocation qualifications... Pledges may be made to Gordon De Nike, 474-8262 or Tina Clark, 474-7452 or 474-6881.

Bomb Blast Fatal To 4 In Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A bomb exploded into a huge ball of fire in the center of Belfast today and police said four persons were killed and 97 wounded. Two of the dead were policemen.

The bomb was planted in a delivery truck parked in Donegal Street by terrorists who then telephoned false information to police, saying it had been placed in neighboring Church Street.

Authorities were evacuating people from Church Street into Donegal when the bomb exploded in a ball of fire.

Army experts estimated the size of the explosive at nearly 100 pounds. The delivery truck disintegrated. Shop fronts and windows were destroyed.

All of the city's ambulances were mobilized and rushed to the scene. Emergency operations were carried out on the sidewalk by surgeons.

The dead and wounded lay in pools of blood in the street. Other injured staggered around the street, blood pouring from their wounds, until they could be taken to an ambulance.

One policeman wept.

"This seems to have been a deliberate attempt to get as many people into Donegal Street as possible," a police spokesman said.

The bomb exploded in front of Northern Ireland's main Protestant newspaper, the New Letter.

"I saw a huge ball of red fire rushing up the street followed by a wall of smoke" one witness said. "There was a huge blast and people were thrown all over the place."

Walpole Prisoners Riot Again

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP) — Prisoner unrest which authorities have blamed in part on hostility between some guards and inmates has flared into violence at Walpole State Prison for the second time in three days.

Guards armed with clubs and wearing helmets stormed inmate-erected barricades Sunday night after 18 prisoners refused to enter their cells as ordered in a prison-wide lockdown.

In an ensuing melee, the prisoners were forced into their cells, but five inmates and two guards were injured.

The violence followed a day of talks between prison officials and inmates in an attempt to resolve grievances which authorities said led to a major riot Friday night.

The Friday night disturbance involved an estimated 150 of the 624 inmates confined at the maximum security institution.

The prison library was burned, furniture was wrecked and windows were smashed. Damage was estimated at $200,000.

The riot erupted after an inmate was stabbed in the back.

Turks Seek U.S. Cash For Opium

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Premier Nihat Erim is visiting the United States this week in search of money to compensate Turkish opium farmers for the government's ban on their poppy growing.

The ban affects more than 100,000 farmers in seven provinces and as many more persons in related industries it touches the lives of a million Turks.

The United States has offered $35 million over four years to help compensate and develop new income for the opium farmers. Most Turks think this is not enough. Their loss estimates start at $40 million and run as high as $400 million for the first four years.

One of the premier's Washington meetings will be on Wednesday with Robert S. McNamara, president of the World Bank. They are expected to discuss projects to provide new income for the opium-growing area.

The ban has generated angry protests in the press and Parliament, with critics charging that Erim has sold out to foreign interests.

But he has stood firm. He says the decision was taken to protect world youth from the "damned plague" of drug abuse and to keep Turkey's honor from being smeared. He has warned, however, that if the economic loss cannot be made up, some future government may rescind the ban.

U.S. officials have assured Erim that President Nixon will use his influence with the World Bank and other international aid and lending agencies to secure financing for opium-substitution projects.

Congress Again Wrestles With Time Zone Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six years after putting clocks ahead on a uniform basis from April through October, Congress has time on its hands again.

The question before the House today was what to do about the dozen states split by time-zone boundaries.

The decision involves the so-called Indiana amendment to the 1966 Uniform Time Act. The amendment would grant a new exemption option to the states that straddle time boundaries.

Alaska is in four time zones; Indiana, Florida, Tennessee, Kentucky, Texas, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Oregon and Montana are in two zones apiece.

The problem is especially complex in Indiana where the federal government went to court to challenge a city's time-tinkering.

The law provides for Daylight Saving Time between the last Sunday in April and the last Sunday in October. It allows an exemption from DST only if the state legislature provides that the entire state and all its subdivisions observe the applicable standard time.

If statewide exemption is adopted, "the exempt western part will remain one hour out of time with the eastern part of the state, two hours out of time with other states to the east and one hour out of time with western neighbors who are usually on the same time." Commerce Committee Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., said in a report.

The proposed amendment would let any state divided by a time-zone boundary exempt the portion in one time zone from DST without exempting the other portion. That could put a state under one time zone. It would not change the exemption option for non-split states.

The Senate passed a similar amendment last year, but the bill was sidetracked in the House.

The Commerce Committee later approved the bill and Staggers decided to bring it to the floor under a procedure requiring two-thirds approval for passage.

'Miranda' Review Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to reconsider the "hypertechnical requirements" of the 1966 Miranda decision limiting use of confessions at criminal trials.

The court acted at the request of Philadelphia prosecutors who asked for re-examination in light of the 1968 Federal Crime Control law, which eased rules against confessions for federal trials.

The case, to be heard next term, concerns a Philadelphia man, Paul D. Ware, who confessed in 1963 to the slaying of four elderly people. The Miranda ruling barred use of the statement by the time he was ready for trial.

There was no elaboration from the court as it announced it would hear the appeal. Therefore, the extent to which the Miranda decision will be re-evaluated will not be completely clear until the case is argued.

U.S. Planes Make 100th Attack In North

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes raised their total of attacks on North Vietnam this year to the 100 mark over the weekend.

The U.S. Command said the 100th attack on anti-aircraft defenses in the North was made Sunday night by a Navy A6 fighter-bomber that attacked a radar site about 35 miles north of the DMZ. The command said the radar was tracking U.S. bombers raiding the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos. Results of the strike were not known.

In two other raids Sunday, American fighter-bombers apparently knocked out an anti-aircraft artillery battery and a radar site in North Vietnam 42 and 47 miles north of the DMZ near the Laotian border, the U.S. Command said.

In the ground war to the south, South Vietnamese forces pressing an 11-day drive against enemy base camps in eastern Cambodia reported uncovering more large stockpiles of food and weapons 85 to 100 miles northwest of Saigon and 10 to 15 miles across the border. The Saigon command said the latest caches yielded nearly 250 tons of rice and salt and more than 1,000 weapons.

Communist ground forces struck back at strategic government military sites in the northern part of South Vietnam, blowing up more than 50, 000 gallons of aviation fuel near the DMZ and killing six government troops in a raid on an avy headquarters on the central coast.

More than 50 other U.S. warplanes attacked North Vietnamese troops for 24 hours—from noon Saturday until noon Sunday—to make possible the successful helicopter rescue of three downed airmen from the Ho Chi Minh trail in southern Laos.

Two hours after he and Capt. Stephen L. Boretzky bailed out of the spotter plane, 1st Lt. David Breskman, 24, of Villanova, Pa., encountered a North Vietnamese soldier dressed in a khaki uniform and armed with an AK45 rifle.

"I saw him coming," said Breskman, "and I just sat real still and watched him come."

"He kept coming closer and closer, and when he got where (Continued on Page 16)

Indiana Political Activity Rises

Presidential hopefuls and Hoosier congressional candidates have until Thursday to file for Indiana's May 2 primary but the campaign's already begun, as politics took center stage in Indiana over the weekend.

Israel Builds Missile Boats

Move Increases Mideast Tension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Israeli navy is building a force of big missile-firing boats in an apparent bid to overcome an Egyptian edge in the Red Sea, Pentagon sources report.

The move, raising the Mideast arms race another beat, would enable the Israeli navy to shield shipping bound for Elat, Israel's important southern port.

In the view of U.S. naval experts, the six boats under construction would put the Israelis in shape to challenge the Egyptian navy's Red Sea force, made up principally of two destroyers and three Soviet-built Komar-class missile boats.

At the moment, Israel has about a dozen lightly armed patrol craft in the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aqaba.

Although they maintain powerful naval forces in the Mediterranean, neither the United States nor Russia is in position to bring that major strength to bear in the Red Sea because the Suez Canal still is blocked.

The United States keeps only a small force of two destroyers and a command ship in the Red Sea area. Russia operates about 16 naval vessels in the vast Indian Ocean, and some of these could be sent into the Red Sea in an emergency.

Construction of the six new missile boats is another example of the way Israeli engineers modify foreign weapons to fit their own needs.

The new boats will be more heavily armed than the earlier Saars, U.S. sources said, with 76mm guns mounted on boats on bow and stern to complement Israeli-made Gabriel missiles, torpedos and smaller guns.

The Israelis have provided few details about the Gabriel, but it is known by U.S. experts to be a radar-aimed weapon of what is called a "sea skimmer" type. The missile is described as carrying a hefty explosive warhead.

U.S. Planes Make 100th Attack In North

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes raised their total of attacks on North Vietnam this year to the 100 mark over the weekend.

The U.S. Command said the 100th attack on anti-aircraft defenses in the North was made Sunday night by a Navy A6 fighter-bomber that attacked a radar site about 35 miles north of the DMZ. The command said the radar was tracking U.S. bombers raiding the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos. Results of the strike were not known.

In two other raids Sunday, American fighter-bombers apparently knocked out an anti-aircraft artillery battery and a radar site in North Vietnam 42 and 47 miles north of the DMZ near the Laotian border, the U.S. Command said.

In the ground war to the south, South Vietnamese forces pressing an 11-day drive against enemy base camps in eastern Cambodia reported uncovering more large stockpiles of food and weapons 85 to 100 miles northwest of Saigon and 10 to 15 miles across the border. The Saigon command said the latest caches yielded nearly 250 tons of rice and salt and more than 1,000 weapons.

Communist ground forces struck back at strategic government military sites in the northern part of South Vietnam, blowing up more than 50, 000 gallons of aviation fuel near the DMZ and killing six government troops in a raid on a army headquarters on the central coast.

More than 50 other U.S. warplanes attacked North Vietnamese troops for 24 hours—from noon Saturday until noon Sunday—to make possible the successful helicopter rescue of three downed airmen from the Ho Chi Minh trail in southern Laos.

Two hours after he and Capt. Stephen L. Boretzky bailed out of the spotter plane, 1st Lt. David Breskman, 24, of Villanova, Pa., encountered a North Vietnamese soldier dressed in a khaki uniform and armed with an AK45 rifle.

"I saw him coming," said Breskman, "and I just sat real still and watched him come."

"He kept coming closer and closer, and when he got where

'Miranda' Review Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to reconsider the "hypertechnical requirements" of the 1966 Miranda decision limiting use of confessions at criminal trials.

The court acted at the request of Philadelphia prosecutors who asked for re-examination in light of the 1968 Federal Crime Control law, which eased rules against confessions for federal trials.

The case, to be heard next term, concerns a Philadelphia man, Paul D. Ware, who confessed in 1963 to the slaying of four elderly people. The Miranda ruling barred use of the statement by the time he was ready for trial.

There was no elaboration from the court as it announced it would hear the appeal. Therefore, the extent to which the Miranda decision will be re-evaluated will not be completely clear until the case is argued.

Ohio May Lose On Four Seasons Reorganization

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A plan for reorganizing the bankrupt Four Seasons Nursing Centers, Inc., which Ohio officials have said could cost the state as much as $1 million has moved a step closer to implementation.

James Tolbert III, court-appointed trustee for the company, says the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has given its general approval to the plan. The proposal would give Ohio a share of $7 stock in the reorganized company for each dollar of Four Seasons' $4 million debt to the state.

The $4 million represents loans made to the company by the state treasurer's office in 1970.

The office of Ohio Atty. Gen. William J. Brown indicated last fall when Tolbert first proposed the plan that it would not be satisfactory. Brown expressed optimism last year that Ohio would be able to get all its money back in cash.

Ohio law forbids state ownership of any interest in a private company, but Tolbert says the federal court in Oklahoma City, which has jurisdiction in the bankruptcy proceedings can order the state to accept the stock.

Surveyors Confab Set

The Central Ohio Chapter of the Professional Land Surveyors of Ohio will install new officers for 1972 when they host the state-wide meeting of the Professional Land Surveyors of Ohio Friday and Saturday.

The annual meeting is being held at the Neil House Motor Hotel in Columbus. The meeting will be in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers.

The new officers are: President Roland L. Edwards of Roland L. Edwards and Associates, Grove City; vice president Phillip E. Martin of P. E. Martin and Associates Inc., Worthington and secretary Franklin D. Stults of Stults and Associates, Delaware. The new treasurer will be Henry Kunze of Games and Street Inc., Delaware.

The organization's members are land surveyors who are registered by the State of Ohio to practice land surveying. This year's topic will be "Various Aspects of Surveying Standards."

Ohio officials have said the Four Seasons stock would be worth considerably less on the market than its face value, and Ohio might have to forfeit as much as $1 million of the Four Seasons debt if it accepts the proposal.

Brown has been trying, unsuccessfully so far, to persuade the federal court Ohio is entitled to full repayment of the debt immediately instead of being required to wait with other creditors for a share of the assets.

Commissioners Seek Fund For Federal Grants

Pickaway County Commissioners today requested the budget commission to establish a special fund for federal grants.

When drawing up the annual appropriation budget, commissioners had not anticipated receiving any grants this year. It now appears they will receive two or more.

Federal funds for the feasibility study of a city-county government complex were received last week. A grant for a recording-memory system for the juvenile division of common pleas court has been approved.

Commissioners today accepted "with regret" the resignation of Richard Davis from the Airport Authority. Davis served as secretary-treasurer of the organization.

The appointment of Russ Palm to Metropolitan Housing Authority by Probate Judge Guy Cline was approved by commissioners.

Commissioners Wayne Hines, Charles Morris and Dick T. Tottle were all present for today's meeting.

OP Inmates Locked In

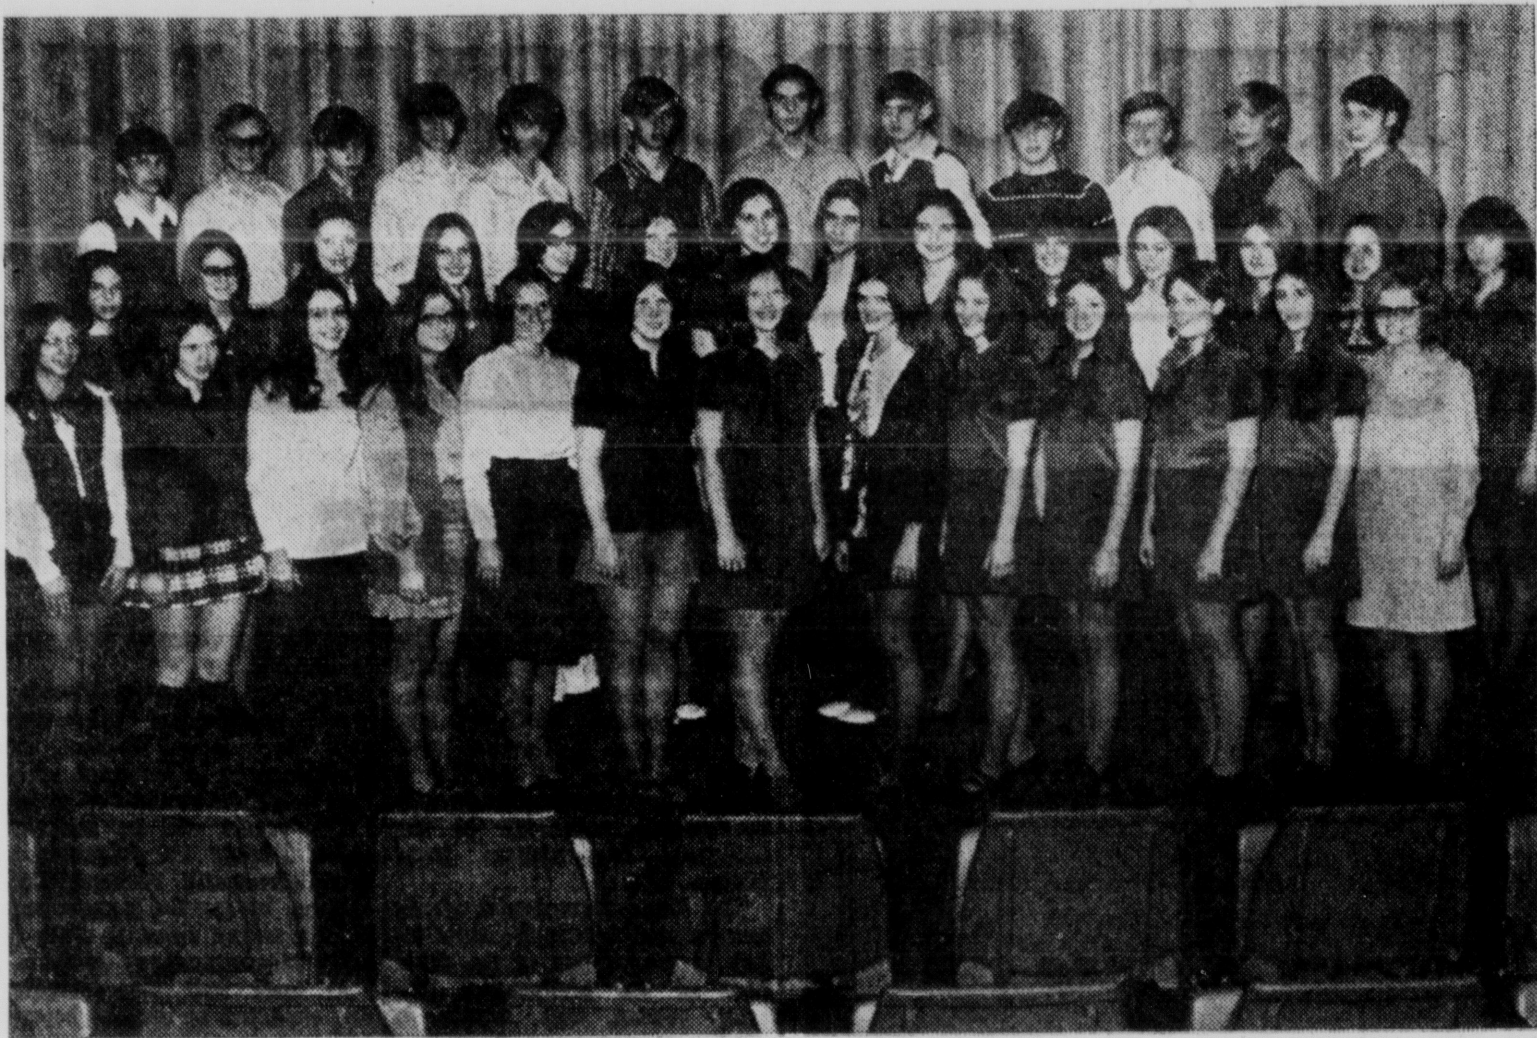

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Penitentiary Warden Harold J. Cardwell today said the entire prison population of 1,823 inmates is on strike because of five prisoner demands.

There has been no violence. Cardwell told a news conference he has talked to groups of prisoners twice during the day but has not scheduled more meetings because of their insistence that a troublemaker in a 1968 prison riot be included.

He identified the inmate as Howard John Tonte, a native of the state of Delaware serving 10-60 years for his role in the riots.

"The real hangup is their trying to tell me how to run a penitentiary," Cardwell said. "They say they won't talk to me unless their man is there."

"I'm willing to listen to their grievances and I have listened but I'm not going to let up tight people — death row people — take part in any negotiations."

No Liens Result From Exemptions

Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-House District 21, assured elderly homeowners at the State Capitol today that no liens would be placed on homes of those filing for the homestead exemption.

Rumors to that effect had been circulating in Columbus and elsewhere, but Shoemaker branded them as just rumors.

"By enacting the homestead exemption," Shoemaker said, "we set out to assist our aged citizens who have been paying taxes to the state all their lives. If we turned around and put a lien on their real property, it would be double-crossing everyone."

Representative Shoemaker lamented the fact that the state still places a lien on the home of those people receiving aid for the aged, but warned that this provision should not be confused with the homestead exemption.

"They are completely different laws," Shoemaker added. "I have long supported repeal of the aid for the aged lien on real property. If homestead exemption bill had included such a lien, I would not have voted for it. The elderly people of Ohio deserve, much, much more."

Canadian Route Urged For Trans-Alaska Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department issued today its long-awaited analysis of environmental impact of the proposed Trans-Alaska oil pipeline, indicating that a route through Canada instead would be far less destructive.

The report, in nine volumes weighing a total of about 25 pounds, was prepared under court order after environment groups won an injunction in 1970 blocking pipeline construction.

Interior Department officials said no action will be taken for at least 45 days on the application of seven oil companies to build the pipeline across Alaska from its North Slope in the Arctic to the tanker port on its South Coast.

The report is limited to discussion of the environmental impact of the proposed pipeline and of various possible alternatives and indicates no decision on the application.

But it points out that "denial (of the companies' application) might lead to an application, however, for one of the alternative routes discussed in the statement."

The statement also points out that construction of a pipeline to carry natural gas from Alaska's North Slope to the U.S. Midwest is under consideration and would have to follow one of the routes through Canada.

"Less environmental cost would result from a single transport corridor (accommodating both the gas pipeline and an oil pipeline) than from two separate corridors" which would be necessary if an oil pipeline took a different route across Alaska, the impact statement noted.

The report considered several possible routes through Alaska to tanker ports on the Bering Sea and the Gulf of Alaska as well as overland across Alaska and Canada to the U.S. Midwest.

It rejected as not feasible the concept of transporting oil entirely by tanker from Prudhoe Bay on the frozen Arctic Ocean.

The notion of a pipeline to a tanker port on the Bering Sea was described as "questionable."

Comparing pipeline routes through Canada with pipeline-plus-tanker routes through Alaska, the report found the Alaska route preferable from only two aspects of environmental impact while it considered a Canadian route better from six environmental viewpoints.

The proposed pipeline route to the tanker port of Valdez for which the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. is seeking a permit, appeared to be considered the worst choice in terms of the hazard of environmental damage from accidental oil spills both on land and at sea.

China-U.S. Meet Held

PARIS (AP) — The U.S. and Chinese ambassadors met today for the second time to study means of improving relations between their two countries.

Ambassador Huang Chen went to the U.S. Embassy to meet with Ambassador Arthur K. Watson. Their first meeting was last Monday at the Chinese Embassy.

Huang and Watson are discussing procedures to facilitate travel and trade between the United States and China, carrying out the agreement by President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai in Peking last month to increase contacts between the Chinese and American peoples.

The meeting lasted a little more than an hour and a U.S. Embassy spokesman quoted Watson as saying: "We had a fine talk."

The American host showed Huang to the door, but neither spoke to waiting newsmen.

There was no indication whether the two would meet every Monday or when their next meeting would be held. U.S. officials have said nothing about if the discussions will be made public.

Dear Friends,

Following a bereavement, all notes of condolence should be answered personally. A note of gratitude should also be sent to each pallbearer, and to anyone who has been of special help.

While a personal note of gratitude for the clergyman's comfort and aid is proper, we feel it is preferable to visit the clergyman and thank him in person.

Respectfully,

Three Youths Caught After Prying Box

Pickaway County Sheriff J. Phillip Brown, with the aid of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, apprehended three Washington C. H. juveniles after they allegedly attempted to pry open the coin box of a telephone beside Fox's General Store, Atlanta, Saturday night.

Brown received the call 9 p.m. from Charles Fox, owner of the store located on Route 207.

The youths apparently were scared away from the phone booth by an Atlanta resident who spotted them tampering with the phone.

They were caught just outside Pickaway County by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, who detained them for Brown.

Ohio May Lose On Four Seasons Reorganization

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A plan for reorganizing the bankrupt Four Seasons Nursing Centers, Inc., which Ohio officials have said could cost the state as much as $1 million has moved a step closer to implementation.

James Tolbert III, court-appointed trustee for the company, says the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has given its general approval to the plan. The proposal would give Ohio a share of $7 stock in the reorganized company for each dollar of Four Seasons' $4 million debt to the state.

The $4 million represents loans made to the company by the state treasurer's office in 1970.

The office of Ohio Atty. Gen. William J. Brown indicated last fall when Tolbert first proposed the plan that it would not be satisfactory. Brown expressed optimism last year that Ohio would be able to get all its money back in cash.

Ohio law forbids state ownership of any interest in a private company, but Tolbert says the federal court in Oklahoma City, which has jurisdiction in the bankruptcy proceedings can order the state to accept the stock.

No Liens Result From Exemptions

Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-House District 21, assured elderly homeowners at the State Capitol today that no liens would be placed on homes of those filing for the homestead exemption.

Rumors to that effect had been circulating in Columbus and elsewhere, but Shoemaker branded them as just rumors.

"By enacting the homestead exemption," Shoemaker said, "we set out to assist our aged citizens who have been paying taxes to the state all their lives. If we turned around and put a lien on their real property, it would be double-crossing everyone."

Representative Shoemaker lamented the fact that the state still places a lien on the home of those people receiving aid for the aged, but warned that this provision should not be confused with the homestead exemption.

"They are completely different laws," Shoemaker added. "I have long supported repeal of the aid for the aged lien on real property. If homestead exemption bill had included such a lien, I would not have voted for it. The elderly people of Ohio deserve, much, much more."

South Court School Sets Family Night

On the menu will be: John Marzetti, hot dogs, baked beans, potato salad, cole slaw, pizzas and desserts.

Canadian Route Urged For Trans-Alaska Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department issued today its long-awaited analysis of environmental impact of the proposed Trans-Alaska oil pipeline, indicating that a route through Canada instead would be far less destructive.

The report, in nine volumes weighing a total of about 25 pounds, was prepared under court order after environmental groups won an injunction in 1970 blocking pipeline construction.

Interior Department officials said no action will be taken for at least 45 days on the application of seven oil companies to build the pipeline across Alaska from its North Slope in the Arctic to the tanker port on its South Coast.

The report is limited to discussion of the environmental impact of the proposed pipeline and of various possible alternatives and indicates no decision on the application.

But it points out that "denial (of the companies' application) might lead to an application, however, for one of the alternative routes discussed in the statement."

The statement also points out that construction of a pipeline to carry natural gas from Alaska's North Slope to the U.S. Midwest is under consideration and would have to follow one of the routes through Canada.

"Less environmental cost would result from a single transport corridor (accommodating both the gas pipeline and an oil pipeline) than from two separate corridors" which would be necessary if an oil pipeline took a different route across Alaska, the impact statement noted.

The report considered several possible routes through Alaska to tanker ports on the Bering Sea and the Gulf of Alaska as well as overland across Alaska and Canada to the U.S. Midwest.

It rejected as not feasible the concept of transporting oil entirely by tanker from Prudhoe Bay on the frozen Arctic Ocean.

The notion of a pipeline to the tanker port on the Bering Sea was described as "questionable."

Comparing pipeline routes through Canada with pipeline-plus-tanker routes through Alaska, the report found the Alaska route preferable from only two aspects of environmental impact while it considered a Canadian route better from six environmental viewpoints.

The proposed pipeline route to the tanker port of Valdez for which the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. is seeking a permit, appeared to be considered the worst choice in terms of the hazard of environmental damage from accidental oil spills both on land and at sea.

China-U.S. Meet Held

PARIS (AP) — The U.S. and Chinese ambassadors met today for the second time to study means of improving relations between their two countries.

Ambassador Huang Chen went to the U.S. Embassy to meet with Ambassador Arthur K. Watson. Their first meeting was last Monday at the Chinese Embassy.

Huang and Watson are discussing procedures to facilitate travel and trade between the United States and China, carrying out the agreement by President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai in Peking last month to increase contacts between the Chinese and American peoples.

The meeting lasted a little more than an hour and a U.S. Embassy spokesman quoted Watson as saying: "We had a fine talk."

The American host showed Huang to the door, but neither spoke to waiting newsmen.

There was no indication whether the two would meet every Monday or when their next meeting would be held. U.S. officials have said nothing about if the discussions will be made public.

Dear Friends,
Following a bereavement, all notes of condolence should be answered personally.
A note of gratitude should also be sent to each pallbearer, and to anyone who has been of special help.
While a personal note of gratitude for the clergyman's comfort and aid is proper, we feel it is preferable to visit the clergyman and thank him in person.

Three Youths Caught After Prying Box

Pickaway County Sheriff J. Phillip Brown, with the aid of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, apprehended three Washington C. H. juveniles after they allegedly attempted to pry open the coin box of a telephone beside Fox's General Store, Atlanta, Saturday night.

Brown received the call 9 p.m. from Charles Fox, owner of the store located on Route 207.

The youths apparently were scared away from the phone booth by an Atlanta resident who spotted them tampering with the phone.

They were caught just outside Pickaway County by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, who detained them for Brown.

Court Fines Local Drivers

Seven local motorists either forfeited bonds or were fined in Municipal Court Friday.

Franklin D. Crites, 56, Circleville, was fined $15 and costs for speeding 73 miles per hour in a 60 zone.

Lee Otto, 30, Route 1, Circleville, forfeited $24 bond for failing to yield at a stop sign.

Robert Rutherford, 28, New Holland, forfeited $24 bond for speeding 73 miles per hour in a 60 zone.

Richard Williams, 29, 708 S. Washington St., forfeited $24 bond for speeding 71 miles per hour in a 60 zone.

Wilkie Adams, 59, Route 1, Williamsport, forfeited $24 bond for speeding 73 miles per hour in a 60 zone.

Ronnie Giffin, 25, Route 1, Stoutsville, forfeited $34 bond for driving an unsafe vehicle.

Robert H. Woods, 30, Route 2, Orient, forfeited $24 bond for driving left of center.

Fire Extinguishers Taken From Busses

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated the theft of fire extinguishers from Miami Trace School district buses Monday morning.

The buses were parked at the intersection of Routes 207 and 22 over the weekend. Eugene Warenoch reported the theft.

IMPROVISED SKI JUMP — Dan Friedman, right, and Don Richard, both from West Hartford, Conn., make good use of snow that fell on roof of the Friedman home as a ski jump.

Environmental Report

By HUGH BARNHILL
Pickaway County Health Department

The best possible answer to solid waste disposal is simply to recycle it.

However, at present, the costs of sorting out the hundreds of different components and reusing them is prohibitive unless it is done on a very large scale and subsidized.

At present the best and most sanitary method of disposal, is to bury waste in a sanitary landfill.

The objective of a solid waste program is that all solid-wastes be stored, collected, recycled or disposed of in a manner which will not be harmful to the public health or environment.

Of course, any illegal dumping, whether large or small, is an abuse of the environment. An objective of local government is to protect the health and environment of the community, but it requires the cooperation of everyone.

Recently several counties across the country have taken a positive step in controlling and collecting solid wastes. With the help of grants they have set up a solid waste program which has practically eliminated backyard dumps.

CHICAGO (AP) — A preliminary report analyzing a 1969 Chicago police raid in which two Black Panther leaders were killed claims the police fired the first shots, three newspapers report.

The Chicago Daily News, the Chicago Sun-Times and the New York Times all printed excerpts from the report in their Thursday and Friday editions.

Fred Hampton, Illinois chairman of the Panthers, and Mark Clark, leader of the Panther chapter in Peoria, Ill., were slain in the raid.

NEW YORK (AP) — The networks appear to have started spring housecleaning. NBC and CBS used up five pilot programs Friday night by dropping them in time periods normally used for feature films. The rest of the entertainment was almost entirely reruns.

NBC had hour-long programs called "Ghost Story" and "Movin' On", in its usual theatrical movie spot. CBS packed three comedy pilots in its movie-made-for-TV time.

"Ghost Story" was a story of a young couple moving into their new house. The wife, about to have a child, started hearing footsteps and bursts of wild laughter in empty rooms. It turned out to be the spirit of a girl hanged and buried 200 years before on the site of their home.

"Movin' On" was a straight action story about a stock car driver and a cyclist who follow the racing circuit. It bore a family resemblance to "Route 66," and no wonder since both were created by the same man, Stirling Silliphant.

CBS's trio of pilots started strong but wound up weak. "The Living End" explored the anguish of a football veteran worried about younger competition for his position on the team when he was sidelined by exposure to his wife's measles.

"Oh, Nurse," was a switch on those old movies about hijinks in the girls' dormitory at the coed college. They were trying to smuggle into their guarded quarters a medical intern to join his bride of a few hours. Naturally, he wound up hiding in the girls' shower.

It didn't work at all. Even the writers couldn't figure out how to end the show—it just stopped.

See April Steel Orders Lower Than First Predicted

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Industry Week magazine said today that April steel orders from the auto industry will apparently fall short of expectations.

The weekly business publication said steel orders from the industry are remaining below projections because auto production is 8.7 per cent behind last year and producers are shopping for price breaks.

Industry Week said General Motors will buy twice as much steel from Japan this year as last. It said six per cent of GM's steel this year would be from foreign producers.

"We can't overlook the price and cost advantages this foreign steel provides for us," said Richard Gerstenberg, chairman of GM. "We're trying to compete with these countries in automobiles. We've got to compete in cost as well."

The magazine said that other steel users are also keeping current inventories low and requiring quick deliveries. As a result, raw steel production is rising faster than shipments to enable fast filling of orders.

Steel mill inventories totaled 20.4 million net tons the first of February compared with 19.7 million tons at the end of the year.

The magazine estimated 2.583,000 net tons of raw steel were poured in the week ended Saturday, compared to 2,553,000 tons the previous week.

Industry Week's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap declined to $35.50 per gross ton after rising to $36 the previous week.

Tipp City Fire Probed

TROY, Ohio (AP) — State fire marshal's office investigators were asked today to look into the possibility of arson in a fire Sunday night that gutted a two-story warehouse in Tipp City south of here. No injuries were reported.

The blaze destroyed the P and K Lumber Warehouse where lumber, pool tables and air conditioners were stored for sale in the 23 retail outlets the firm operates in Ohio and southern Indiana.

Damage was estimated at more than $150,000.

Flames and smoke also did considerable damage to two adjacent homes and knocked out power and telephone service in a number of residences. All street lights in the town of 4,500 were out and residents were unable for awhile to reach the police department by phone.

Ex-GI Jailed For Drug Treatment

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Nearly four years after Thomas Patrick Murray stumbled on a land mine in Vietnam during an Army patrol, he is in yet another hospital—at Florida's Raiford State Prison.

He has new pains to withstand, heroin withdrawal, an impending leg amputation and a three-year attempted robbery sentence.

But the judge and prosecutor who sent him to prison say they are giving Murray a break.

"There was just no other way to get him treatment for that leg and for his drug problem," said Court of Record Judge John Ferris. "It's a tragic story."

The 22-year-old Vietnam veteran sat in a wheelchair in Ferris' courtroom Tuesday trembling.

"He was going through withdrawal in court," said Asst. State Atty. David Bogenschutz. Murray was charged with robbery in the Monday night holdup of a suburban Fort Lauderdale convenience store. He was apprehended by police as he hobbled out of the store carrying a toy pistol and a paper bag stuffed with $150.

Murray told Bogenschutz and Ferris he needed the money to support an $80-a-day heroin habit. He said his $600-a-month disability pension just wouldn't cover it.

Bogenschutz agreed to reduce the robbery charge to attempted robbery and promised a prison term of no more than three years in exchange for a no contest plea from Murray.

Ferris ordered the disabled veteran sent to Raiford's hospital Thursday for medical care. After he recuperates from a leg operation, probably an amputation, the judge specified that Murray be transferred to the minimum security Apalachee Correctional Institution to learn a trade.

Murray was in the Veterans Administration Hospital at Miami until two months ago when he voluntarily signed himself out. Doctors had just told him that his leg would have to be amputated.

"He just ran scared," said Vincent Miro, chief of detention for Broward County.

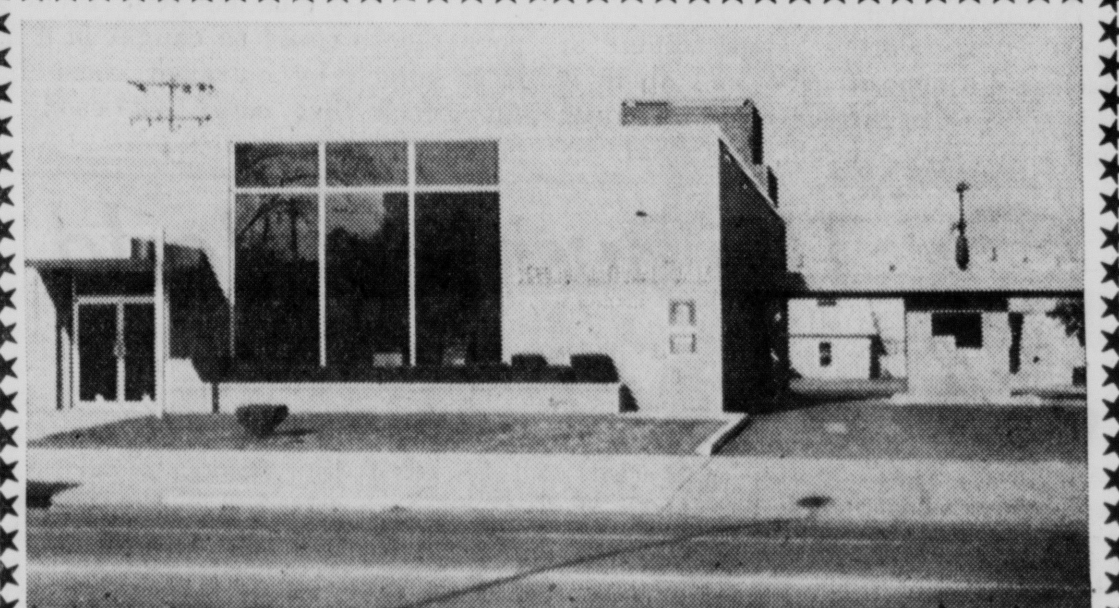

Murray had been in and out of military hospitals since he stepped on the mine while on an Army patrol in Vietnam on April 26, 1968. In the hospital, he said, he became addicted to morphine administered to kill the pain. Later, unable to obtain morphine, he substituted heroin, Murray said.

Spring Here; Weather Nice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is the first day of spring, and, for once, the astronomers and the weathermen seem to be in agreement on that point. Pleasant, springlike, weather prevailed over most of the nation as the sun slipped across the equator and started its slow climb toward summer.

Except for a band of freezing early morning temperatures from the Northeast to the Upper Peninsula or Michigan and northern Minnesota, thermometer readings were mild over most of the nation.

Most of the country also reported dry weather, although a few light showers were developing in the Great Lakes region and the mountains of the Northwest and a few thunderstorms were reported in the central Great Plains.

Plan Vacation Now

Don't wait too long to make arrangements for this year's summer vacation. More than a hundred million other Americans are planning summer outings, too — and the outlook is that there will be a shortage of accommodations.

Resort owners, motels and hotels, transportation people and others affected by the nation's vacation habits predict this year will be "the greatest." Expenditures of vacationists are expected to approach $40 billion.

Businesses catering to vacationing America have been expanding since last season, as they have been continuously for decades. But the rate of increase this year is expected to top the average increase in the last 20 years.

Hundreds of new motels have been constructed since last year. However, demand will again exceed overnight accommodations available along the travel routes.

Of the millions who will travel, more than 100 million are expected to move by family car. How are such estimates arrived at? From inquiries pouring in upon automobile associations, map-service bureaus of major oil companies, from travel bureaus and inquiries to individual accommodations.

As for the millions who will depend upon public transportation facilities, the carriers are competing vigorously for this patronage. But every one of them will be taxed if Americans pack up and take off on vacations in the numbers and for weeks qualified observers expect.

Prices High Enough

A disquieting business note is the occasional but persistent prediction that houses, automobiles, shoes — or what have you — will cost more next year. Further price increases are neither justified nor calculated to have a beneficial effect upon the economy.

The government could not take a more praiseworthy stand than to declare its opposition — and mean it this time — to further price increases and to every action, by whatever segment of the population, that will result in such increases.

The government, of course, should set the example.

The consuming public has revolted in the past, and politicians whose main worry in an election year is to fill pocketbooks could be caught in a surprise attack by outraged consumers. An attack that could not easily be parried by double talk.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Every body persists in referring to it as the "balance of payments" even though the occasions have been rare since the mid-1950s when we have been able to balance our international accounts.

Should this situation be called the "imbalance of payments" or perhaps the "international payments condition"? Either would seem appropriate.

In dealing with this matter, however you resign yourself to elusive wording, to concepts that appear to be inconsistent and always to a large element of the inexplicable.

Consider the trade balance, one element in the $29.6-billion payments deficit for 1971. By one set of figures, the trade deficit was $2 billion; by another, $2.9 billion.

One set of figures includes some military shipments and Virgin Island imports, the other does not. One set is issued monthly; the other, quarterly. One set is adjusted, the other is not. Both are official. Both are regularly quoted.

If you can cope with such niceties, you probably can make sense out of the payments situation, which underlies so much of our international and economic news. The key to understanding is to remember the word "confidence."

The definition: Balance of payments is the difference between total payments to foreign nations and total receipts from foreign nations during a period of time.

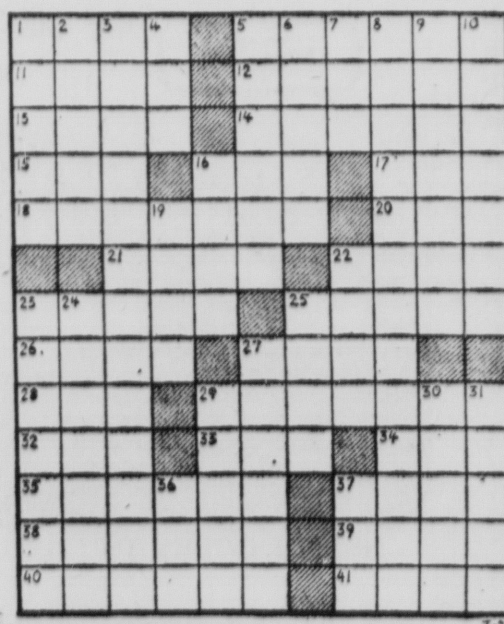

When you travel abroad, you contribute to the dollar outflow. When the Army spends money in Europe, it adds to the outflow. When corporations invest abroad, they put the trade account into deficit, although those dollars might come back some day as profits.

When foreigners visit the United States, they bring back those dollars. When they buy our electronic computers and airplanes, they help toward the same end. When they buy our stocks and bonds, they do likewise.

The fact of the matter is: We've been doing a lot more spending than they have. We have been keeping our check-book unbalanced. We've been inflating the dollar. We've given

TUESDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Most everyone is in a highly restless and nervous state of mind, and all too apt to break promises made, or to snap back when anything that annoys them occurs. Therefore it is advisable to use self-control and see that you live the Golden Rule in thought, speech and deed, then potential separations will not occur.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you do not use care in driving and motion of any other kind, you find you can get into a good deal of trouble. Keeping promises you have made is also a must. Avoid difficulties of all kinds.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you are extravagant in any way, you find you will regret it later when you need the money most. Add to, instead of deducting from, your present bank account. Follow through with ideas which an expert in business gives you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't be angry if another gets something you think you want, since what is really for you nobody can take away. Decline any invitation that will bring you face to face with one you do not want to see at this time. Do so courteously.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't adopt a martyr complex because you think another has put one over on you, since the fooler is often the fool. Try to help those who are not as lucky as you. Forget the past and dwell on the future happily.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A good day for dealing with others provided you do not act in an imperious manner and alienate them from you, especially one who is vital to your welfare. Go about gaining aims quietly and intelligently. Think constructively.

McGovern, Welfare Reform

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Senator George McGovern of South Dakota seems to be the only Presidential aspirant who is making much of a play with the idea of welfare reform. Surprisingly for a candidate who is almost neck-deep in foolishness when it comes to other issues, particularly those that would affect national defense, McGovern's plan for abolishing the whole present welfare monstrosity is rational even though it goes to dubious extremes when the Dakota Populist Democrat tells us how he would finance it.

The "McGovern plan" is not really McGovern's in its origins. The Senator has merely added some unnecessary embellishments to a "fair share full incentive plan" worked out by a White Plains, N.Y., computer scientist named Leonard Greene. Though he is willing to give Richard Nixon a good mark for effort in the White House proposal for a so-called Family Assistance Plan that would substitute "workfare" for "welfare," Mr. Greene, an employer who runs a flight instrument company, thinks Mr. Nixon has built his proposal for welfare reform on a fallacious assumption about human nature. The Nixon plan — or maybe it should properly be called the Dan Moynihan plan after Nixon's former White House adviser — would provide a $2,400-a-year basic benefit for a family of four. But it would only allow the recipient family to retain a third of its earnings above the first $720 earned per year.

Shoving the figures into his computer, Mr. Greene comes up with an interesting print-out. Any welfare recipient who labored to make $61 a month in addition to the Family Assistance basic guarantee would immediately jump into a 66 per cent tax bracket. Thus, says Mr. Greene, "his incentive to earn that extra dollar must evaporate by 67 per cent according to the 'law' of human nature."

What Mr. Greene suggests is a plan that "abolishes welfare altogether, wipes out the enormous bureaucratic machine that administers it, and . . . gives every American citizen that spiritual spark . . . which says 'I can do better and my efforts will be fully rewarded.'"

Briefly, Mr. Greene would give an annual "fair share" income of $2,600 to every family of four in the country, whether rich or poor. The U.S. Treasury would disburse the money, thus abolishing the whole welfare bureaucracy. Under the Greene proposal, there would be no tax at all on the first $1,000 earned above the $2,600. On the second $1,000 the tax bite would be $134, leaving the family with net cash of $4,466.

How would Mr. Greene raise the revenues to pay for his "fair shares"? In part, it would be done by cancelling out the fair share "gift" to the higher brackets simply by recovering the money for the Federal Treasury by increasing the top level income tax rates. The lower bracket "gifts" would come out of the 70 billion dollars a year that would be saved by scrapping our present bureaucratic anti-poverty programs.

The rich wouldn't like paying a 20 per cent tax surcharge necessary to get the plan going, but Mr. Greene insists they would ultimately be the beneficiaries of his plans simply because the country would go to work again, generating more taxes from an increased national income. This would permit individual tax reductions in the future.

One virtue of the Greene fair share approach is that it would stop the headlong migration from inadequate welfare areas into our urban slums: families would either tend to stay where they are to migrate to where they could earn good money up to $6,000 or $8,000 to year in excess of the basic allowance.

If Senator McGovern had stopped with Mr. Greene's figures, the South Dakota Populist could be cawphed with having made an enlightening contribution to campaign-year discussion of issues.

Unfortunately, the Senator's doctrinaire Populism has caused him to embrace the late Norman Thomas's socialist proposal of a capital levy. McGovern proposes confiscating estates that go over $500,000. Wouldn't this automatically wipe out great pools of investment money and so inhibit the very productivity that would be needed to put Mr. Greene's fair share scheme into effect? I think it would be likely to do just that under the same "law of human nature" that makes Mr. Nixon's Family Assistance Plan such an inadequate idea. Investors need incentive, too.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What is your attitude towards the yearly health examination offered to executives in big companies?

Is there real value to such intensive surveys?

Dear Mr. G.:

Experience with such concentrated yearly examination of executives has definitely proved to be of extreme value.

So great are the benefits that many large organizations are rightfully extending "executive health surveys" to everyone who is employed. For it has been shown that the destiny of any organization depends on the health structure of every individual rather than that of the selected few top-echelon executives. This is indeed the basis for good preventive medicine.

A recent study of almost 600 executives was undertaken at the Mayo Clinic, in Rochester, Minn. Eighty three per cent of the executives studied were found to have a major health problem.

Obesity, recognized as a significant health disorder, was the most frequent and troublesome condition.

Surprisingly, a good number of polyps of the rectum and the lower intestinal tract were uncovered in patients who had no symptoms of disease. Diabetes, high blood pressure, hernias, peptic ulcers, gout, and many other diseases were picked up during routine examination.

Dr. Nicholas Pace, medical director of General Motors in New York City, says that regular intensive medical health checkups are the very essence of preventive medicine. He believes that the early detection of disease yields maximum dividends to the individual and secondarily, to his productivity in the organization that employs him.

Would you describe a spinal anesthesia and tell me just when it is used?

Dear Mr. B.:

For some types of surgery of the abdominal cavity and the lower extremities, spinal anesthesia may sometimes be used. An anesthetic solution is painlessly injected into the spinal canal and soon the nerves that radiate from that area are blocked, or freed from pain sensation.

A somewhat similar procedure is known as "epidural and caudal" anesthesia. Here, the solution is injected around the spinal canal, rather than into it. This is used in some obstetrical cases.

There are many specific reasons why a surgeon and an anesthesiologist may choose these forms of anesthesia. People who have high risks, with chronic lung conditions, and for other reasons, may be spared a general anesthesia by substituting this spinal type.

They'll Do It Every Time

Plan Vacation Now

Don't wait too long to make arrangements for this year's summer vacation. More than a hundred million other Americans are planning summer outings, too — and the outlook is that there will be a shortage of accommodations.

Resort owners, motels and hotels, transportation people and others affected by the nation's vacation habits predict this year will be "the greatest." Expenditures of vacationists are expected to approach $40 billion.

Businesses catering to vacationing America have been expanding since last season, as they have been continuously for decades. But the rate of increase this year is expected to top the average increase in the last 20 years.

Hundreds of new motels have been constructed since last year. However, demand will again exceed overnight accommodations available along the travel routes.

Of the millions who will travel, more than 100 million are expected to move by family car. How are such estimates arrived at? From inquiries pouring in upon automobile associations, map-service bureaus of major oil companies, from travel bureaus and inquiries to individual accommodations.

As for the millions who will depend upon public transportation facilities, the carriers are competing vigorously for this patronage. But every one of them will be taxed if Americans pack up and take off on vacations in the numbers and for weeks qualified observers expect.

Prices High Enough

A disquieting business note is the occasional but persistent prediction that houses, automobiles, shoes — or what have you — will cost more next year. Further price increases are neither justified nor calculated to have a beneficial effect upon the economy.

The government could not take a more praiseworthy stand than to declare its opposition — and mean it this time — to further price increases and to every action, by whatever segment of the population, that will result in such increases.

The government, of course, should set the example.

The consuming public has revolted in the past, and politicians whose main worry in an election year is to fill pocketbooks could be caught in a surprise attack by outraged consumers. An attack that could not easily be parried by double talk.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Every body persists in referring to it as the "balance of payments" even though the occasions have been rare since the mid-1950s when we have been able to balance our international accounts.

Should this situation be called the "imbalance of payments" or perhaps the "international payments condition"? Either would seem appropriate.

In dealing with this matter, however you resign yourself to elusive wording, to concepts that appear to be inconsistent and always to a large element of the inexplicable.

Consider the trade balance, one element in the $29.6-billion payments deficit for 1971. By one set of figures, the trade deficit was $2 billion; by another, $2.9 billion.

One set of figures includes some military shipments and Virgin Island imports, the other does not. One set is issued monthly; the other, quarterly. One set is adjusted, the other is not. Both are official. Both are regularly quoted.

If you can cope with such niceties, you probably can make sense out of the payments situation, which underlies so much of our international and economic news. The key to understanding is to remember the word "confidence."

The definition: Balance of payments is the difference between total payments to foreign nations and total receipts from foreign nations during a period of time.

When you travel abroad, you contribute to the dollar outflow. When the Army spends money in Europe, it adds to the outflow. When corporations invest abroad, they put the trade account into deficit, although those dollars might come back some day as profits.

When foreigners visit the United States, they bring back those dollars. When they buy our electronic computers and airplanes, they help toward the same end. When they buy our stocks and bonds, they do likewise.

The fact of the matter is: We've been doing a lot more spending than they have. We have been keeping our checkbook unbalanced. We've been inflating the dollar. We've given en foreigners what they consider are a lot of IOUs.

There are lots of reasons behind this poor showing. First, foreign economies have developed strongly since World War II, helped initially by generous U.S. financial aid. They are selling more to us and collecting more dollars.

Last year, to illustrate, our imports rose by 15 per cent to $45.7 billion, while exports grew only 2 per cent to $42.8 billion. This $2.9 billion deficit was the first for the trade segment since 1888.

The difference, in the eyes of many foreigners, is made up in IOUs. Sure, they've been paid in dollars, but they fear those dollars are inflated far beyond their real value.

In fact, they'd redeem their dollars for gold if they could; but they no longer can. They're stuck with them. They can trade for other currencies, or they can invest them in the United States or buy U.S. goods.

Well, the United States is a strong country, even if its checkbook is unbalanced. Why shouldn't more of those dollars come back in payment for our goods or for stocks and bonds or as real-estate investments?

There is a lack of confidence. That they were able to accumulate so many dollars means to them the United States has been overspending. And those big federal-government deficits tend to confirm their opinion. They aren't sure the U.S. problem is temporary.

Why, they ask, should they invest in a sick economy? Why buy American goods that are overpriced because of inflation? Why lend their dollars here when interest rates are so low?

All are good questions. They are directed to the very problems that the United States is now seeking to resolve. The dollar devaluation was meant to make it easier for foreigners to buy American goods. And now interest rates are rising.

Moreover, price and wage controls are being used to restrain our tendency to over-reach. And spending, both private and government, is being examined for possible areas of savings.

In summary, the United States concedes that the dollar is in trouble, but it argues that the problem is temporary. By fall, it says, devaluation should trade balance.

Have confidence, the United States says. Give us proof, not promises, says much of the trading world.

Is there real value to such intensive surveys?

Dear Mr. G.: Experience with such concentrated yearly examination of executives has definitely proved to be of extreme value.

So great are the benefits that many large organizations are rightfully extending "executive health surveys" to everyone who is employed. For it has been shown that the destiny of any organization depends on the health structure of every individual rather than that of the selected few top-echelon executives. This is indeed the basis for good preventive medicine.

A recent study of almost 600 executives was undertaken at the Mayo Clinic, in Rochester, Minn. Eighty three per cent of the executives studied were found to have a major health problem.

Obesity, recognized as a significant health disorder, was the most frequent and troublesome condition.

Surprisingly, a good number of polyps of the rectum and the lower intestinal tract were uncovered in patients who had no symptoms of disease.

Diabetes, high blood pressure, hernias, peptic ulcers, gout, and many other diseases were picked up during routine examination.

Dr. Nicholas Pace, medical director of General Motors in New York City, says that regular intensive medical health checkups are the very essence of preventive medicine. He believes that the early detection of disease yields maximum dividends to the individual and secondarily, to his productivity in the organization that employs him.

Would you describe a spinal anesthesia and tell me just when it is used?

Mr. W. B., Okla.

Dear Mr. B.: For some types of surgery of the abdominal cavity and the lower extremities, spinal anesthesia may sometimes be used. An anesthetic solution is painlessly injected into the spinal canal and soon the nerves that radiate from that area are blocked, or freed from pain sensation.

A somewhat similar procedure is known as "epidural and caudal" anesthesia. Here, the solution is injected around the spinal canal, rather than into it. This is used in some obstetrical cases.

There are many specific reasons why a surgeon and an anesthesiologist may choose these forms of anesthesia. People who have high risks, with chronic lung conditions, and for other reasons, may be spared a general anesthesia by substituting this spinal type.

Goodyear Awarded Contract By Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Goodyear Aerospace Corp. of Akron has been awarded a $26.4 million contract by the Navy to develop the Captor, a new anti-submarine missile system.

Work will be performed at Goodyear's Akron plant. Subcontractors are Bendix Inc., North Hollywood, Calif., and Collins Radio Co., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Everyone Blames Me; Was It My Fault?

DEAR ABBY: I am being blamed for causing a scene at my mother-in-law's funeral. Here is what happened:

Before I married Kenny, he went with a girl named Polly. Ken's mother was crazy about Polly, and even after Ken married me, Polly kept up her close friendship with Kenny's mother just to bug me.

Well, Polly came into the church just before the funeral services started, all dressed up like for mourning. She spots Ken, runs to him, bursts into tears, and starts hugging his neck.

I said, "Please find a man of your own to cry on," and I gave her a little shove. She shoved me back real hard and knocked my hat off.

Then I lost my temper and hit her a good one. She hit me back and grabbed my arm and started to twist it. Then Ken and a few others tried to separate us. The pastor came running over, and somebody

Mariner 9 Malfunctions

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Engineers poured over data from Mariner 9 Saturday seeking an apparent malfunction that forced the first shutdown of cameras and instruments since the spacecraft went into orbit about Mars last November.

They were hopeful the cause of an incorrect computer response to a routine status check question Friday could be found during the weekend and the scientific surveillance of Mars resumed.

Spokesman at the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the Mariner 9 cameras and instruments were turned off as a precaution after the computer was loaded with new instructions but didn't properly answer a status check question afterwards.

That sent ground controllers scurrying because it meant either a malfunction in the computer or some other system associated with the cameras and instruments.

The spacecraft completed its basic mission early in February, mapping 85 per cent of Mars and returning about 7,000 pictures, but scientists had hoped to observe Mars for a full year.

3 Drownings Reported In Ohio Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three boys drowned in Ohio waters Sunday, two in the Little Miami River near Cincinnati and the third in Lake Erie near the Lorain municipal pier.

Joseph Pratt, 16, and his brother David, 15, both of Cincinnati, were floating on the Little Miami on a homemade raft with two other boys. It tipped over and they drowned.

Police said the pair apparently couldn't swim. The other two made it to safety. One of them, Robert Manning, said that "Joe said he could swim and David said he could swim good enough, but we found out they couldn't."

In Lorain, John Robbins Jr., 11, of Lorain was climbing a pole on the pier to unravel some fishing gear when he fell into about five feet of water and drowned before bystanders could pull him out.

Diphtheria Drops

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Health officials recorded a drop of about 75 per cent in the diphtheria rate here for 1971 as the city rebounded from the epidemic that struck the year before.

There were 54 cases with one death in 1971, compared to 201 cases with three deaths in 1970.

As the 1970 epidemic spread, doctors joined with nurses and military medics to man immunization clinics, dispensing vaccine to 577,917 persons.

Program Against Unemployment Urged By Experts

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in its history, the United States is facing an unemployment crisis that cannot be cured simply by increasing the demand for labor.

Newspaper classified pages already are full of job offers that go begging because the people who need work generally haven't the skills to fill the available openings.

Throughout 1971, the jobless rate hovered around 6 per cent, a recessionary level. Last month, the rate fell to 5.7 per cent, but even if that decline signals a trend, economists do not believe it will go deep enough into the basic problem to cure it.

The crisis is one of structural among women and teen-agers, problems which economists say must be tackled with innovative and massive federal programs.

The January figures issued by the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed the unemployment rate for adult women to be 5 per cent. For teen-agers, it was a massive 18.8 per cent. By contrast, it was just 4 per cent for all adult men and only 2.8 per cent among married men, the last two groups considered by many to be the nation's prime work force.

FDR Planned Tougher Policy

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Tribune reported Saturday that, six days before his death, President Franklin D. Roosevelt cabled his agreement with Prime Minister Winston Churchill that the United States and Britain must take a "tougher" attitude opposing Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin.

"We must not permit anybody to entertain a false impression that we are afraid," the Tribune quoted from the communique. "Our armies will in a very few days be in a position that will permit us to become tougher than has heretofore appeared advantageous to the war effort."

Roosevelt's "top secret and personal" message was found recently in the archives of Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park, N.Y., according to a story by Tribune columnist Willard Edwards of Washington.

ment statistics reflect the housewives looking for part-time work," said BLS economist John E. Bregger.

"How in the hell do they know if she needs the job? Maybe it's very important to her and her family. Nobody's got the right to question her motives."

Yet the fact is that a woman re-entering the labor force after a long absence or an unskilled teen-ager looking for part-time work will have more trouble than the average adult man.

The administration has formulated a policy which, it says, will go a long way toward easing the structural unemployment problem.

As outlined by Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, to the Joint Economic Committee last month, that policy includes heavy federal spending to speed the demands for goods and services and expanded manpower and unemployment insurance programs to reduce structural unemployment and cushion the financial burden of the jobless.

"There is an unusually great need for special measures to assist inexperienced young workers or women re-entering the labor force in making job connections," Stein said.

George L. Perry, an economist with the Brookings Institution, argues that administration proposals are too little, too late.

"It has to be a two-pronged program," Perry said. "First you have attack the already low unemployment levels among adult men to get them even lower. This will automatically reduce the structural unemployment a little bit when employers begin running short of trained labor and take on unskilled labor for training."

"By itself, that won't be enough. You've also got to provide jobs for the structurally unemployed and the best way to do that is to create public service jobs, positions that don't require massive pre-job training."

Manpower programs that require massive training have built-in problems of timing, Perry said, and in time of high unemployment, this type of training program is doomed to fail.

"You can't train a guy and send him into a world where there are no jobs," he added. "The National Alliance of Businessmen had a great idea in the JOBS program, taking unskilled workers and giving them comprehensive training. But the program was killed when the participating industries had to start laying off their skilled people."

Program Against Unemployment Urged By Experts

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Everyone Blames Me; Was It My Fault?

DEAR ABBY: I am being blamed for causing a scene at my mother-in-law's funeral. Here is what happened:

Before I married Kenny, he went with a girl named Polly. Ken's mother was crazy about Polly, and even after Ken married me, Polly kept up her close friendship with Kenny's mother just to bug me.

Well, Polly came into the church just before the funeral services started, all dressed up like for mourning. She spots Ken, runs to him, bursts into tears, and starts hugging his neck.

I said, "Please find a man of your own to cry on," and I gave her a little shove. She shoved me back real hard and knocked my hat off.

Then I lost my temper and hit her a good one. She hit me back and grabbed my arm and started to twist it. Then Ken and a few others tried to separate us. The pastor came running over, and somebody knocked his glasses off. Polly ran out of the church in hysterics expecting somebody to run after her. Nobody did, so she never came back.

Now everybody is blaming me. Was this my fault? If Polly hadn't starting hugging Ken's neck this never would have happened.

MY NAME IS MUD IN ARKANSAS

DEAR MUD: Since you landed the first blow, I would say it was indeed your fault.

DEAR ABBY: For "North and South," the couple whose friends are unpleasant to each other at the bridge table:

My husband and I have had similarly unpleasant experiences with couples who are very compatible UNTIL they become bridge partners. We solved that problem by pretending that we were tired of playing together as partners. We suggested that the men challenge the women. Or the other man and I play against the other woman and my husband. It worked!

"ANOTHER NORTH AND SOUTH"

DEAR ABBY: Your suggestion makes sense. My mail indicates that the No. 1 cause of friction between married couples is JEALOUSY. No. 2: No. 3: Cards!

DEAR ABBY: My son, a freshman in college, has a habit of putting off today what he can do at the last minute. He would never think of refinishing an original first draft, but at the last minute he asks me to type up his papers because I am faster, more accurate, and can correct his spelling and grammatical errors.

I helped him during high school but I've refused to help him in college thinking he would plan ahead better. But he has not.

My husband says, "All the college kids hire someone to do their final typing anyway, and the professor doesn't care as long as the copy is legible" so I should type up our son's work. What do you say?

HOLDING FIRM

DEAR HOLDING: There is a vast difference between "typing up work" and correcting spelling and grammatical errors. And don't let Hubby and Junior con you into capitulating.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FROM THE OLD SCHOOL": Welcome to the club. Very few of us who had "old world" parents were told "the facts of life" by our mothers. All my mother told me, God bless her, was never to put bananas in the refrigerator.

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in its history, the United States is facing an unemployment crisis that cannot be cured simply by increasing the demand for labor.

By contrast, it was just 4 per cent for all adult men and only 2.8 per cent among married men, the last two groups considered by many to be the nation's prime work force.

The unemployment rate among women and teen-agers is high because the entire structure of the American labor force has shifted in the last 10 years. The teen-age labor force has grown by 2.5 million, and women in the labor force have increased by 7 million. At the same time, the adult male labor force decreased by 4 million.

Labor Department economists say the influx of young workers reflects the post World War II baby boom. That boom is, in part, also responsible for the influx of women—the mothers of those postwar babies who are no longer tied to their homes by their children.

"We hear complaints all the time because the unemployment statistics reflect the housewives looking for part-time work," said BLS economist John E. Bregger.

"How in the hell do they know if she needs the job? Maybe it's very important to her and her family. Nobody's got the right to question her motives."

Love Throughout World Stressed At Circle Meeting

"Women in Ghana" was the program presented at the March meeting of Circle 2, Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, in the home of Mrs. Carl Wilson, 720 N. Pickaway St. Guests were Mrs. Boles, mother of Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Mack Noggle.

Circle leader, Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe, read two poems, "I Like The Rain" and "At Easter," and led the opening prayer.

Mrs. Wilson, spiritual life leader, presented a reading with the thought for the month, "The Greatest Thing In The World — Love." She stressed that in these days of uncertainty and ever-present problems, we need a sincere and meaningful love for mankind throughout the world. Mrs. Wilson said that all 11 members had been remembered with cards or visits.

The annual District Spring Meeting will be held April 14 at the Reynoldsburg United Methodist Church from 9:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. All officers and interested members are urged to attend this "Spring Fling." Luncheon reservations are to be sent to Miss Lucille Kirkwood or Mrs. Montford

Kirkwood no later than April 5th.

Plans are being made for the Mother-Daughter banquet on May 12 in the Service Center.

Members were asked to save Betty Crocker coupons to help toward the purchase of a new bus for use at the South Side Settlement House and Triple S Camp. They may be given to Mrs. Clydus Leist or taken to the "Spring Fling." Mrs. Leist reminded members that help would be appreciated at the Clothing Center in April.

Mrs. Radcliffe told of events concerning the United Methodist jurisdictional meeting she attended recently in Chicago.

Program leader for the evening was Mrs. Howard Conley. After the lighting of a candle symbolizing World Mission, Mrs. Conley read verses 19 and 20 of the 28th chapter of Matthew. She then gave a brief background of the African country of Ghana. Mrs. Arthur Bowman read "In Christ There Is No East Or West."

Scripture from the first chapter of Genesis, verses 26-31 were read by Mrs. R. E. Nau. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Robert Riser outlined the changes in the status of women in Ghana a few years ago as contrasted to the present day. They pointed out that these are due to economic, political and social changes through education. In addition to their many other achievements Ghana women are now serving in the courts, world affairs and in areas of police work and the armed forces.

Mrs. Leist read "In Step With Change," Mrs. Radcliffe, "That Modern Woman In Ghana" and Mrs. Clarence Merz talked concerning the great importance of the role of women in the world today. Mrs. Nau ended the program with prayer.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Riser and Mrs. Radcliffe.

Hostess for the April meeting will be Mrs. Harold Baker and the program, observing the Easter season will be presented by Mrs. Roger McLaughlin.

Tea Honors Administrator

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Willoughby, 217 W. Mill St., were hosts at a tea recently in their home honoring Lemar J. Clevenger and family. Mr. Clevenger is the administrator of the Pickaway County Program for trainable mentally retarded.

Those attending from the training staff to share fellowship with Mr. and Mrs. Clevenger, LeAnn and Kyle were: Mrs. Roberta Wyllie, Mr. and Mrs. George Hamman III, Miss Harriet Morris, Mrs. Leora Sayre, Mrs. David Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Roush. Other guests were: Terry, Rebecca and Teresa Dountz.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Ed King, McArthur, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Bryan Custer, 143 W. Franklin St.

Guild Votes Cash Pledge To Hospital

Berger Hospital Guild 30 voted to make a cash donation to Berger Hospital as its annual gift during its Thursday evening meeting in the home of Mrs. Jerry Collins, Route 4.

Mrs. Ellen Rittinger conducted the business session attended by 11 members and one guest, Mrs. Betty Teets.

Elected as new officers were: Miss Barbara McKenzie, chairman; Tacie Dumm, vice chairman; Sue Collins, secretary; Ellen Rittinger, treasurer and Becky Timmons, news reporter.

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games with prizes awarded to Mrs. Jessie Wilson, Mrs. Betty Teets and Mrs. Rittinger. The chance gift brought by Mrs. Alma McKenzie was won by Mrs. Jessie Wilson.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

Pickaway Social Club Sets Thursday Meet

Pickaway Social Club will meet Thursday, March 23rd from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. in Trinity Lutheran Parish House, 135 E. Mound St. Beverages will be furnished to go with sack lunches at noon.

Games, sewing and visiting will be activities for the morning. At 1 p.m. Mrs. Dale Edwards will show a movie, "Dynamic Maturity" showing activity in various Senior Centers throughout the United States. At 2 p.m. there will be a business meeting followed by a short rehearsal for the entertainment group which has been organized. Kazoos will be available for everyone.

Brezhnev Set For Talks With Nixon

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev said today Soviet leaders will talk with President Nixon in May from "business-like, realistic positions" and with the belief improvement of Soviet-U.S. relations is possible.

Speaking to the opening of the 15th congress of trade unions in the Kremlin, Brezhnev said Nixon's visit could take an "important place" among meetings between world leaders.

"We understand very well what the significance of the condition of Soviet-American relations has for the life of the people of both countries and for the entire international situation," he said in a speech reviewing Soviet foreign policy.

$60,000 Grant Awarded For Prenatal Study

HOUSTON (AP) — A Russian-born scientist has been awarded a $60,000 grant to study how unborn babies are affected by lack of oxygen.

Dr. Donald Rappaport, head of the Division of Molecular Biology at the University of Texas medical branch in Galveston, received the award from the United Cerebral Palsy Research and Education Foundation.

Oxygen deprivation in unborn and newborn infants is a leading cause of cerebral palsy a disorder that now affects at least 750,000 persons in the United States.

But in an apparent reference to Soviet support of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong, he said any improvement in Soviet-American relations would not be "at the expense of some third countries or peoples, not to the detriment of their lawful rights and interests."

Earlier in the speech, Brezhnev expressed full support for his Vietnamese allies and their peace proposals, said the Soviets "wrathfully condemn the bandit bombings of North Vietnamese territory by American aviation," and demanded an end to the bombing and "a withdrawal of the interventionists from Indochina."

The party chief said the Soviet Union is ready to improve its relations with China, but "it is up to the Chinese side now."

Love Throughout World Stressed At Circle Meeting

"Women in Ghana" was the program presented at the March meeting of Circle 2, Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, in the home of Mrs. Carl Wilson, 720 N. Pickaway St. Guests were Mrs. Bales, mother of Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Mack Noggle.

Circle leader, Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe, read two poems, "I Like The Rain" and "At Easter," and led the opening prayer.

Mrs. Wilson, spiritual life leader, presented a reading with the thought for the month, "The Greatest Thing In The World — Love." She stressed that in these days of uncertainty and ever-present problems, we need a sincere and meaningful love for mankind throughout the world. Mrs. Wilson said that all 11 members had been remembered with cards or visits.

The annual District Spring Meeting will be held April 14 at the Reynoldsburg United Methodist Church from 9:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. All officers and interested members are urged to attend this "Spring Fling." Luncheon reservations are to be sent to Miss Lucille Kirkwood or Mrs. Montford

Kirkwood no later than April 5th.

Plans are being made for the Mother-Daughter banquet on May 12 in the Service Center.

Members were asked to save Betty Crocker coupons to help toward the purchase of a new bus for use at the South Side Settlement House and Triple S Camp. They may be given to Mrs. Clydus Leist or taken to the "Spring Fling." Mrs. Leist reminded members that help would be appreciated at the Clothing Center in April.

Mrs. Radcliffe told of events concerning the United Methodist Jurisdictional meeting she attended recently in Chicago.

Program leader for the evening was Mrs. Howard Conley. After the lighting of a candle symbolizing World Mission, Mrs. Conley read verses 19 and 20 of the 28th chapter of Matthew. She then gave a brief background of the African country of Ghana. Mrs. Arthur Bowman read "In Christ There Is No East Or West."

Scripture from the first chapter of Genesis, verses 26-31 were read by Mrs. R. E. Nau. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Robert Riser outlined the changes in the status of women in Ghana a few years ago as contrasted to the present day. They pointed out that these are due to economic, political and social changes through education. In addition to their many other achievements Ghana women are now serving in the courts, world affairs and in areas of police work and the armed forces.

Mrs. Leist read "In Step With Change." Mrs. Radcliffe, "That Modern Woman In Ghana" and Mrs. Clarence Merz talked concerning the great importance of the role of women in the world today. Mrs. Nau ended the program with prayer.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Riser and Mrs. Radcliffe.

Hostess for the April meeting will be Mrs. Harold Baker and the program, observing the Easter season will be presented by Mrs. Roger McLaughlin.

Summer Job Program Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to provide more than 1 million summer jobs for young people between the ages of 14 and 21 years has been announced by the Nixon administration.

Over $319 million in federal funds will be provided for various programs that will include 734,400 jobs. Another 336,000 jobs will be provided in a program backed by private industry. Secretary of Labor J.D. Hodgson said in announcing the program Saturday.

The jobs will be provided through the Neighborhood Youth Corps, Federal Summer Jobs Employment Program for Youth, the Public Employment Program and the Youth Conservation Corps.

Fat Germans Shown Need To Exercise

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — "Food makes a belly and a belly makes esteem," says a German proverb.

But obesity is no longer a Teutonic ideal. West Germans are being exhorted to "slenderize through sports" in a national physical fitness drive that has produced more converts than any other postwar promotional campaign.

"The program—Trimm Dich Durch Sport—started two years ago to encourage people of all ages to get up from their desks and easy chairs and start moving their bodies," says Karl Bellmer of the German Sports Federation, initiator of the fitness campaign.

"Trimm Dich uses humor rather than threats to convince Germans that sports lead to pleasure as well as good health," adds Bellmer, a slender man of 43.

More than half of West Germany's labor force is forced to quit jobs for health reasons 10 years before the normal retirement age 65. And physicians blame a quarter of a million heart attacks each year and countless circulatory ailments on the reluctance of West Germans to exercise.

Trimm Dich, however, appears to have started a trend toward voluntary weight watching and exercising, especially among middle class Germans. Pilot programs are under way in factories and offices to test the concept of 10-minute ex-

Alioto Fee - Sharing Trial Nears End After 87 Days

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — At the start of the fee-sharing trial of San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, one of the attorneys punctuated lengthy legal arguments by saying, "If we don't settle this matter, we'll be here until Easter."

The oft-repeated remark by Kenneth MacDonald, a Seattle lawyer, was the most accurate prediction on the length of the civil trial in which Alioto and two former Washington state officials are defendants.

The 41st and last witness was called Tuesday on the 87th day of the trial that began Sept. 20 in Clark County Superior Court. Judge Stanley Soderland and attorneys for both sides are working on legal matters now, pending instructions to the jury.

The suit by the state of Washington and 12 publicly owned public utilities seeks recovery of $2.3 million in legal fees paid to Alioto when as a private antitrust lawyer in the 1960s he recovered $16.2 million for them.

The state and the utilities contend that Alioto improperly and secretly shared $800,000 of his fees with former Washington state Atty. Gen. John J. O'Connell and George K. Faler, a former assistant state attorney general.

The plaintiffs claim O'Connell lifted a $1 million ceiling on Alioto's fee at the same time the agreement was made to share fees.

The defendants say there was no wrongdoing involved in the fee sharing.

Representing Faler's insurance company, MacDonald left the proceedings after a ruling that insurance carried by Faler as an attorney would not cover a judgment against him in the case under trial.

Since MacDonald's departure, Faler has appeared just twice in the courtroom, and he did not present a defense. When called as an adverse witness, he declined to answer questions on the grounds that it might incriminate him.

The three defendants also face federal charges in connection with the fee-sharing. They are accused of conspiring to bribe a state official and of mail fraud.

A tentative trial date of April 17, in Seattle, has been set for hearing the federal charges.

Pheasants introduced into the Texas panhandle need more cover, say game bird experts.

1972 Chrysler

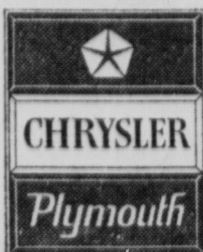

When you think of a Chrysler, you think of a big, strong, handsome car. A man's kind of car. Right? Not completely.

Women, too, go for Chrysler. And, most often, for the same reasons as men.

They like the good looks. They like the roominess. And who wouldn't? Automotive Industries reports that the '72 Chrysler has the largest interior of any 1972 U.S. car. But women, especially, like the way they can count on Chrysler to get them where they want to go... without a lot of trouble. Every Chrysler is built with a commitment to deep-down quality. Every Chrysler is built to last.

Isn't that the kind of car people really want? Men and women alike. We think so. Come in and let us show you a big new Chrysler today.

Donna E. Stephens, Circleville, was among the graduates. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Cole, 520 Lawnwood Court, she majored in political science and was graduated summa cum laude.

Robert Hines, 102 Park St., Ashville, was among students named to the dean's list for the autumn quarter at the University of Cincinnati.

A notice of acceptance has been received by Miss Connie Shaeffer, Williamsport, from Bliss College in Columbus.

Connie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Shaeffer, has chosen to take her training in secretarial work and will begin her preparation Sept. 11, 1972.

Jessie L. Hosler, Ashville, has been appointed a Freshman Scholar at Ohio State University during summer or autumn quarters.

The designation carries special campus privileges for enrolling students who rank in the top three per cent of their high school classes and in the upper five per cent nationally among high school seniors taking the American College Test.

Jessie will graduate in May from Teays Valley High.

Dale Hukill and 29 other students from Westminster Choir College have started a three week Organ Study Tour to Europe, where they will visit cities in Holland, Germany, Denmark, Sweden, France, and Switzerland.

On the tour, they will visit 31 churches to hear and study the organs as well as hear lectures by 11 organ builders, scholars and organists. In Haarlem, Netherlands, scholars and organists. In for services.

Dale is the son of Mrs. Ruth Hukill, 916 Lincoln Drive.

Ohio State University has released the names of candidates for degrees in the Winter commencement ceremonies March 17.

Among the students were a Kingston resident, Richard Cryder, and an Orient resident, Ellen Fox Thompson.

Cryder, of Route 2, Kingston, graduated summa cum laude with distinction in dairy science. Ellen Thompson earned a degree cum laude in her field of study.

Blame Electrical Line For Blaze

CINCINNATI (AP) — A break in an electrical feeder line has been blamed for a two-alarm fire that caused between $75,000 and $100,000 damage to a 12-unit apartment building in suburban North College Hill.

The blaze broke out Sunday morning in one of the first floor units of the three-story building.

No injuries were reported, but North College Hill and Cincinnati firemen had to use ladders to rescue several occupants.

Mason Temple Scene Of Annual Dinner

Scottish Rite Masons of Pickaway County held their annual dinner meeting Thursday evening at the Circleville Masonic Temple. Over 150 local members and out of town guests were present for the event.

Circleville Chapter No. 90 Order of Eastern Star prepared and served the meal.

Fay L. Gullion of Columbus, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Ohio was present and spoke as to the program for the present year.

Robert L. Hinshaw of Worthington, Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Ohio was the principal speaker of the evening.

Hinshaw stressed the need of involvement of Masons as individuals in community and national problems. Hinshaw served as Grand Master of the Grand Lodge in 1969.

Edgar L. Ott secretary of the Valley of Columbus, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, spoke on the forth-coming reunion to be held in Columbus on April 14, 15, 21 and 22. Twenty-one candidates from Pickaway County were guests at the meeting.

Other 33 degree Masons present besides Gullion, Hinshaw and Ott were William V. Ashton, Pickerington, Harry Sark of Ashville, Albert Bender, Ralph Jenkins, Irvin Lunch, Robert M. Sterrett, Roy Long, Horace Troop, George Fite, and Russell Goerke all of Columbus.

Other Columbus guests were Lee R. Asbury, Richard S. Thomasson and George C. Heitz.

Everett Seeds, Ashville, a 50-year member of Scottish Rite was present for the occasion.

Judge William Ammer, Pickaway County Director, served as master of ceremonies. Other members of the County Fraternal Relations Committee are Thurman I. Miller, Director Emeritus, Robert Hedges, Dewey Downs, Blenn D. Bales of Circleville, Jerry M. Trego and Harry Sark of Ashville, John Craig of New Holland and Russel McDill and Aulten Carter of Williamsport.

Summer Job Program Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to provide more than 1 million summer jobs for young people between the ages of 14 and 21 years has been announced by the Nixon administration.

Over $319 million in federal funds will be provided for various programs that will include 734,400 jobs. Another 336,000 jobs will be provided in a program backed by private industry. Secretary of Labor J.D. Hodgson said in announcing the program Saturday.

The jobs will be provided through the Neighborhood Youth Corps, Federal Summer Jobs Employment Program for Youth, the Public Employment Program and the Youth Conservation Corps.

Fat Germans Shown Need To Exercise

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — "Food makes a belly and a belly makes esteem," says a German proverb.

But obesity is no longer a Teutonic ideal. West Germans are being exhorted to "slenderize through sports" in a national physical fitness drive that has produced more converts than any other postwar promotional campaign.

"The program—Trimm Dich Durch Sport—started two years ago to encourage people of all ages to get up from their desks and easy chairs and start moving their bodies," says Karl Bellmer of the German Sports Federation, initiator of the fitness campaign.

"Trimm Dich uses humor rather than threats to convince Germans that sports lead to pleasure as well as good health," adds Bellmer, a slender man of 43.

More than half of West Germany's labor force is forced to quit jobs for health reasons 10 years before the normal retirement age 65. And physicians blame a quarter of a million heart attacks each year and countless circulatory ailments on the reluctance of West Germans to exercise.

Trimm Dich, however, appears to have started a trend toward voluntary weight watching and exercising, especially among middle class Germans. Pilot programs are under way in factories and offices to test the concept of 10-minute ex-

Alioto Fee-Sharing Trial Nears End After 87 Days

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — At the start of the fee-sharing trial of San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, one of the attorneys punctuated lengthy legal arguments by saying, "If we don't settle this matter, we'll be here until Easter."

The oft-repeated remark by Kenneth MacDonald, a Seattle lawyer, was the most accurate prediction on the length of the civil trial in which Alioto and two former Washington state officials are defendants.

The 41st and last witness was called Tuesday on the 87th day of the trial that began Sept. 20 in Clark County Superior Court. Judge Stanley Soderland and attorneys for both sides are working on legal matters now, pending instructions to the jury.

The suit by the state of Washington and 12 publicly owned public utilities seeks recovery of $2.3 million in legal fees paid to Alioto when as a private antitrust lawyer in the 1960s he recovered $16.2 million for them.

The state and the utilities contend that Alioto improperly and secretly shared $800,000 of his fees with former Washington state Atty. Gen. John J. O'Connell and George K. Faler, a former assistant state attorney general.

The plaintiffs claim O'Connell lifted a $1 million ceiling on exercise pauses during the working day.

Alioto's fee at the same time the agreement was made to share fees.

The defendants say there was no wrongdoing involved in the fee sharing.

Representing Faler's insurance company, MacDonald left the proceedings after a ruling that insurance carried by Faler as an attorney would not cover a judgment against him in the case under trial.

Since MacDonald's departure, Faler has appeared just twice in the courtroom, and he did not present a defense. When called as an adverse witness, he declined to answer questions on the grounds that it might incriminate him.

The three defendants also face federal charges in connection with the fee-sharing. They are accused of conspiring to bribe a state official and of mail fraud.

A tentative trial date of April 17, in Seattle, has been set for hearing the federal charges.

Pheasants introduced into the Texas panhandle need more cover, say game bird experts.

1972 Chrysler

When you think of a Chrysler, you think of a big, strong, handsome car. A man's kind of car. Right? Not completely. Women, too, go for Chrysler. And, most often, for the same reasons as men. They like the good looks. They like the roominess. And who wouldn't? Automotive Industries reports that the '72 Chrysler has the largest interior of any 1972 U.S. car. But women, especially, like the way they can count on Chrysler to get them where they want to go... without a lot of trouble. Every Chrysler is built with a commitment to deep-down quality. Every Chrysler is built to last. Isn't that the kind of car people really want? Men and women alike. We think so. Come in and let us show you a big new Chrysler today.

TV Student Of The Week Named From Senior Class

Science Club Tours GE

SHERI THOMAS

By DIANE OLIVER

Five soon-to-graduate students are included in this week's senior spotlight.

Sheri Thomas, 17, resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Thomas on Route 2, Ashville.

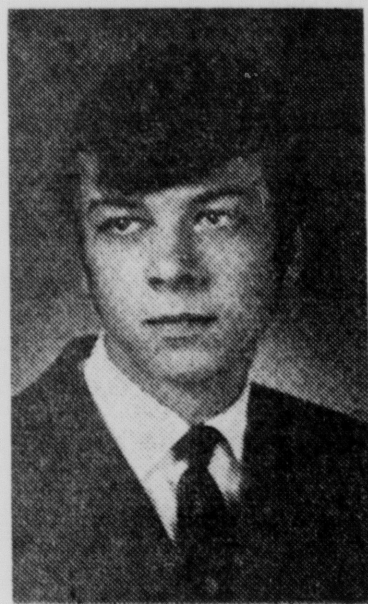

Sheri is enrolled in business courses at school, and enjoys swimming, cooking, fishing, camping and going to the movies. Her activities include National Honor Society and being news reporter for F.H.A.

Sheri's likes include navy blue, steak and Big Macs, the song, "To Love Somebody" by the Bee Gees, the saying "Shoot," government, All in the Family, Randy Spangler and the nickname Tex.

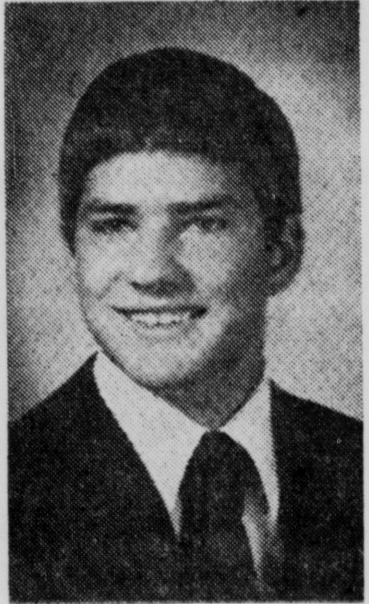

Her comment on graduation is, "Never thought I would make it!" After graduation Sheri plans to work and then to further her education.

Brad Hill, 18, lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hill, Route 5, Circleville. Brad is enrolled in general courses at school. He enjoys swimming, working on cars and riding motorcycles. He is a member of National Honor Society.

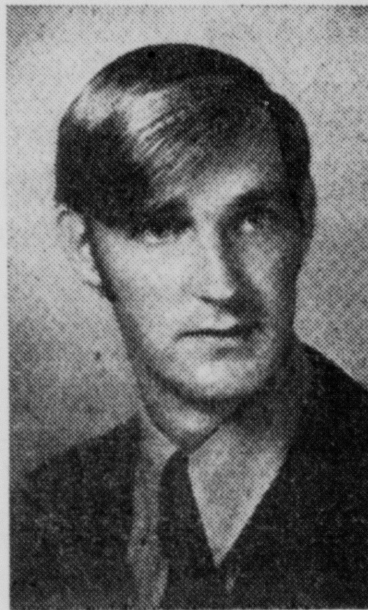

Brad likes the color yellow, the song "Everything I Own," and weekends. His comment on graduation is, "It's still too far away to suit me!"

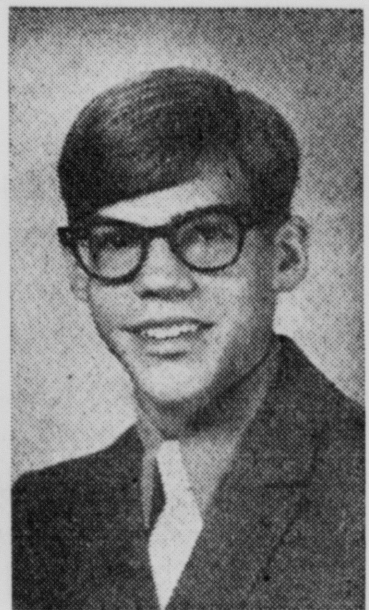

BRAD HILL

SCOTT HUFFER

JOE MERRITT

MIKE RAMEY

Brad plans to take a motorcycle trip to North Carolina this summer then he will look for a job.

Brad says he would like to attend a technical school to study electronics or business management.

Scott Huffer, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Huffer, Route 1, Ashville.

His hobbies are golf and taking Wendy to the games. He is active in F.T.A., Science Club, 4-H and the Junior Fair Board. Scott's likes include the color wild plum, pizza, the song, "The Lion Sleeps Tonight," the saying, "Come on, man," government, Mr. Lawrence, All in the Family and Gremlins.

Scott commented: "I want to graduate, but I'll miss Mrs. Rice."

After graduation, Scott plans to attend Kent State or Ohio State University.

Joe Merritt, 18, lives with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Vichery of Route 1, Ashville. Enrolled in general courses at school, he uses his spare time hunting and fishing. Joe's activities at school include baseball.

Joe likes Pam, baseball, basketball, the color blue, pineapple delight, art, the saying, "There it is," the song, "I'll Be There" by the Jackson Five, Wardell and Flippo.

Joe's comment on graduation is, "I wish I wasn't graduating."

He plans after graduation either to play baseball or to become a plumber.

Mike Ramey, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ramey, Route 2, Ashville.

By DEB GILBERT

Members of the Science Club enjoyed a March 3 trip to the General Electric Plant in Circleville.

Arriving at the plant, the members were welcomed and taken to the conference room. There they were given an introductory speech by the plant manager and one of the guides. Talks given by the men explained the different kinds of lights made at the plant. The main types of lights featured were the fluorescent lights, incandescent light and the "famous" round light, symbolizing Circleville.

After the brief summary, students were broken into many small groups and given a tour that included every step in the making of the various lights.

The following members, along with the adviser, Mr. James Davis and bus driver, Mrs. Dale Schiff, participated in the field trip:

Dave Archer, Cheryl Azbell, Joyce Barr, Jeff Bethel, Shelly Breece, Jack Brinker, John Browning, Steve Bumgarner, Mark Fillingim, Deb Gilbert, Karen Green, Ken Gregory, Linda Haughn, Joe Helsel, Wanda Helsel, Elmer Hines.

Plans Home Ec. Career

Deborah Anne Irwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Irwin, 138 Long Street, Ashville, recently was named Teays Valley High School's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1972.

Deb received a specially designed award charm from General Mills, sponsor of the annual educational program. She is now eligible for state and national honors.

Deb has three younger sisters: Jo Ellen, a freshman at TVHS; Donna Jean, a seventh grader at TV Junior High School; and Teresa, who is a sixth grader at Ashville Elementary School.

Her hobbies are reading, cooking, and sewing. Home economics has always been a favorite subject, and Deb plans to enroll in a home economics course in college. She has been accepted as a student at Bowling Green.

Her school activities include being President of F.H.A., editor of The Blue and Gold, a member of The Viking newspaper staff, yearbook staff, marching and concert bands, Spanish Club, Drama Club, Science Club, and F.T.A. Last summer she attended the National F.H.A. Convention in Kansas City. She is also a member of the Pickaway County Junior Fair Board.

Students Accept State Award On Special Project

MAKE MACHINE — George Bowman, right and William McManes were recently presented with a top award in the state for an Electrical Discharge Machine they entered in the Ohio Industrial

By VICKY EITEL

George Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph V. McCoy of Route 2, Ashville, and William McManes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. McManes of Route 1, Lockbourne, recently won the top award in the state for their project in the Research and Development category at the Ohio Industrial Arts Association display.

They built an EDM (Electrical Discharge Machine) under the direction of Byron Rose, their instructor.

The EDM is used to cut through metal. The boys' purpose in building the machine was to help make molds used in plastics and to aid the plastics program at TVHS. The machine was built in Arts Assn. display in Columbus. The pair built the EDM under the direction of their instructor to assist with projects in the plastics program at TVHS.

Manufacturing II class and will cut through any form of metal. The display was March 8 through 11 at the Rhodes Youth Center on the Ohio State Fairgrounds. It included exhibits in eleven categories covering 3,479 entries. A total of 1,341 awards were handed out to entrants from Ohio high schools and colleges.

The EDM is now on display in Corridor I at the high school. George and Bill are to be congratulated on their excellent project.

Two Wrestlers Qualify For District

By JANET GULICK

Teays Valley wrestling team finished its season with a record of 4-4.

Two TV wrestlers qualified for district, Jim Williamson and Howard Reed. These two also won the league in their weight classes. They were the only two juniors who started and finished the entire season.

Banquet Planned For Sport Teams

The annual Winter Sports Banquet sponsored by the Teays Valley Athletic Booster Club will be Monday, March 20.

Members of the varsity, reserve, and freshman basketball squads, coaches, cheerleaders, advisors, and wrestling team will be honored.

A carry-in dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Every family attending is asked to bring a well-filled basket that includes a meat dish. Rolls and beverages will be furnished by the Booster Club. Table service will be furnished for the honored guests only.

Parents, students, and interested friends and relatives are encouraged to attend.

Kansas City. She is also a member of the Pickaway County Junior Fair Board.

Outstanding Service Award Earned By Teays Valley F.H.A.

By DEB IRWIN

Teays Valley F.H.A. Chapter will be presented the "Award of Merit" for having an outstanding chapter at the state meeting in April.

This award is given to the chapters that qualify by working toward and meeting high standards set by the State. The chapter also was required to send delegates for interviews, where the girls were questioned about their activities and plans of the past year.

Along with this honor the F.H.A. will celebrate National F.H.A. week March 19-25.

Members of Teays Valley Future Homemakers of America will carry out special activities and observances designed to share their experiences and achievements with family, friends, and neighbors.

The theme chosen for this year's NATIONAL F.H.A. WEEK is "Profiles of Youth" to focus attention on what over half-a-million young men and women are doing to improve personal, family and community living.

President Debbie Irwin points out that several million young people have been challenged by the unlimited opportunities offered through membership in Future Homemakers of America. "They have an opportunity to grow as an individual," she stated, "to contribute to home and family living, develop leadership and cooperation, open doors of service to others, prepare for a vocation or profession, make new friends, find new experiences, gain an understanding of others, make creative and constructive use of leisure time and most importantly, be a part of a national organization of teenagers concerned with people, families, and communities."

Members of the Teays Valley F.H.A. Chapter have scheduled a number of activities for this week. Plans outlined by President Deb Irwin include color days, wearing F.H.A. jewelry and emblems, display window, serving coffee and cookies in the teachers' lounge, and involving members in community projects.

Future Homemakers of America is a non-profit, self-supporting organization officially sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education through the Division of Vocational and Technical Education and The American Home Economics Association. It encompasses two types of chapters: Consumer Homecoming — F.H.A. chapters for students in homemaking, consumer, and family life education; HERO-F.H.A. chapters for students enrolled in home economics related occupations courses.

High school home economics teachers serve as advisors to the 11,000 local F.H.A. chapters throughout the country. National headquarters are located in Washington, D.C.

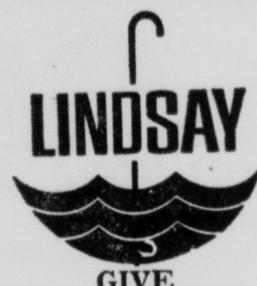

Officers of the Teays Valley chapter are: Deb Irwin, president; Diane Oliver, vice-president; Kathy McPherson, secretary; Jody Harris, treasurer; Sheri Thomas, news reporter; Anita Miller, photographer; Ann Thomas, historian; and Donna Brown, parliamentarian. Mrs. Jerinel Maynard and Mrs. Ruth Tootle serve as advisors.

Assistant Coach Skips Team, Jail

WOODSTOCK, Md. (AP) — The Sykesville Correctional Laundry Camp won the basketball game but lost an assistant coach.

Graduate Returns As Secretary

VIVIAN SHEETS

By VICKY EITEL

Vivian Sheets, a 1970 graduate of Teays Valley, is now employed at Teays Valley as a secretary for the junior high school. She says that she likes working here and that she really enjoys working with the junior high staff and students, but that it is much different from going here as a student.

Vivian began work at TV in August. Before she came here, she was employed at Motorists Mutual Insurance Company in Columbus.

During Vivian's senior year at Teays Valley, she was selected to represent Teays Valley at the Pumpkin Show as a queen candidate. She was chosen as "Miss Pumpkin Show" which Vivian feels was a nice honor. During the next year she traveled to festivals all over Ohio which she enjoyed.

Vivian enjoys bike riding, crocheting, and listening to the Carpenters. Her favorite color is blue, TV show is "Medical Center," and song is "Love" by John Lennon, a former Beate.

One of Vivian's older brothers, Duane, was a 1963 graduate of Teays Valley in the first graduating class. A younger brother, Jeff, is a senior and will graduate May 28. Her mother is a fifth grade teacher at Ashville Elementary School; and her father, Dayton Sheets, was principal at Scioto Elementary School at the time of his death in January, 1971.

The Sheets' have been a real Teays Valley family!

Exchange Teens Gone

By SUE DERRING

Rosane Schermann and Claudio Toledo, our two fine exchange students for the last three months, left for home March 13. Both were International Fellowship representatives from Brazil.

Rosane was glad to be returning, but she said she was really going to miss the Grover Conley family, with whom she had lived for three months. They feel the same. "She is just like one of the family," Mrs. Conley commented, "and we enjoyed every minute of her stay."

Rosane was impressed by seeing snow for the first time and, since she is a city girl, she learned a lot about country life. She feels the United States is truly a great country; but because we have always lived here, we don't notice its greatness. Rosane wants to return again sometime in the future.

Claudio was also glad to return to his famous hometown of Rio de Janeiro. He admitted that he would miss all his friends and the Robert Guthel family here in the United States though. He plans to attend military school, and then someday he hopes to return here for a visit.

Band Notes

By DEB IRWIN

On the evening of March 14, Teays Valley concert band traveled to New Lexington High School. The New Lexington band and the Teays Valley band had an exchange concert. The New Lexington band is under the direction of Mr. William Pangburn, Ashville.

The band will participate in the District band contest at Hastings Junior High School on Saturday, March 18. The band, under the direction of Mr. Fred Brobst, will play three selections. The required number is "Elsinore Overture," and the selected number is "Symphony No. 1 in E Flat." The third number will be a march, "March Baroque."

The sale of oranges and grapefruit ended March 17. The fruit is expected March 27.

Mike Ramey, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ramey, Route 2, Ashville.

Science Club

Tours GE

By DEB GILBERT

Members of the Science Club enjoyed a March 3 trip to the General Electric Plant in Circleville.

Arriving at the plant, the members were welcomed and taken to the conference room. There they were given an introductory speech by the plant manager and one of the guides. Talks given by the men explained the different kinds of lights made at the plant. The main types of lights featured were the fluorescent lights, incandescent light and the "famous" round light, symbolizing Circleville.

After the brief summary, students were broken into many small groups and given a tour that included every step in the making of the various lights.

The following members, along with the adviser, Mr. James Davis and bus driver, Mrs. Dale Schiff, participated in the field trip:

Dave Archer, Cheryl Azbell, Joyce Barr, Jeff Bethel, Shelly Breece, Jack Brinker, John Browning, Steve Bumgarner, Mark Fillingner, Deb Gilbert, Karen Green, Ken Gregory, Linda Haughn, Joe Helsel, Wanda Helsel, Elmer Hines.

Plans Home Ec. Career

Deborah Anne Irwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Irwin, 138 Long Street, Ashville, recently was named Teays Valley High School's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1972.

Deb received a specially designed award charm from General Mills, sponsor of the annual educational program. She is now eligible for state and national honors.

Deb has three younger sisters: Jo Ellen, a freshman at TVHS; Donna Jean, a seventh grader at TV Junior High School; and Teresa, who is a sixth grader at Ashville Elementary School.

Her hobbies are reading, cooking, and sewing. Home economics has always been a favorite subject, and Deb plans to enroll in a home economics course in college. She has been accepted as a student at Bowling Green.

Her school activities include being President of F.H.A., editor of The Blue and Gold, a member of The Viking newspaper staff, yearbook staff, marching and concert bands, Spanish Club, Drama Club, Science Club, and F.T.A. Last summer she attended the National F.H.A. Convention in Kansas City. She is also a member of the Pickaway County Junior Fair Board.

Students Accept State Award On Special Project

MAKE MACHINE — George Bowman, right and William McManes were recently presented with a top award in the state for an Electrical Discharge Machine they entered in the Ohio Industrial Arts Assn. display in Columbus. The pair built the EDM under the direction of their instructor to assist with projects in the plastics program at TVHS.

By VICKY EITEL

George Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph V. McCoy of Route 2, Ashville, and William McManes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. McManes of Route 1, Lockbourne, recently won the top award in the state for their project in the Research and Development category at the Ohio Industrial Arts Association display.

They built an EDM (Electrical Discharge Machine) under the direction of Byron Rose, their instructor.

The EDM is used to cut through metal. The boys' purpose in building the machine was to help make molds used in plastics and to aid the plastics program at TVHS. The machine was built in Manufacturing II class and will cut through any form of metal. The display was March 8 through 11 at the Rhodes Youth Center on the Ohio State Fairgrounds. It included exhibits in eleven categories covering 3,479 entries. A total of 1,341 awards were handed out to entrants from Ohio high schools and colleges.

The EDM is now on display in Corridor I at the high school. George and Bill are to be congratulated on their excellent project.

Two Wrestlers Qualify For District

By JANET GULICK

Teays Valley wrestling team finished its season with a record of 4-4.

Two TV wrestlers qualified for district, Jim Williamson and Howard Reed. These two also won the league in their weight classes. They were the only two juniors who started and finished the entire season.

Banquet Planned For Sport Teams

The annual Winter Sports Banquet sponsored by the Teays Valley Athletic Booster Club will be Monday, March 20.

Members of the varsity, reserve, and freshman basketball squads, coaches, cheerleaders, advisors, and wrestling team will be honored. A carry-in dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Every family attending is asked to bring a well-filled basket that includes a meat dish. Rolls and beverages will be furnished by the Booster Club. Table service will be furnished for the honored guests only.

Parents, students, and interested friends and relatives are encouraged to attend.

Kansas City. She is also a member of the Pickaway County Junior Fair Board.

Outstanding Service Award Earned By Teays Valley F.H.A.

By DEB IRWIN

Teays Valley F.H.A. Chapter will be presented the "Award of Merit" for having an outstanding chapter at the state meeting in April.

This award is given to the chapters that qualify by working toward and meeting high standards set by the State. The chapter also was required to send delegates for interviews, where the girls were questioned about their activities and plans of the past year.

Along with this honor the F.H.A. will celebrate National F.H.A. week March 19-25.

Members of Teays Valley Future Homemakers of America will carry out special activities and observances designed to share their experiences and achievements with family, friends, and neighbors.

The theme chosen for this year's NATIONAL F.H.A. WEEK is "Profiles of Youth" to focus attention on what over half-a-million young men and women are doing to improve personal, family and community living.

President Debbie Irwin points out that several million young people have been challenged by the unlimited opportunities offered through membership in Future Homemakers of America. "They have an opportunity to grow as an individual," she stated, "to contribute to home and family living, develop leadership and cooperation, open doors of service to others, prepare for a vocation or profession, make new friends, find new experiences, gain an understanding of others, make creative and constructive use of leisure time and most importantly, be a part of a national organization of teenagers concerned with people, families, and communities."

Members of the Teays Valley F.H.A. Chapter have scheduled a number of activities for this week. Plans outlined by President Deb Irwin include color days, wearing F.H.A. jewelry and emblems, display window, serving coffee and cookies in the teachers' lounge, and involving members in community projects.

Future Homemakers of America is a non-profit, self-supporting organization officially sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education through the Division of Vocational and Technical Education and The American Home Economics Association. It encompasses two types of chapters: Consumer Homekeeping — F.H.A. chapters for students in homemaking, consumer, and family life education; HERO-F.H.A. chapters for students enrolled in home economics related occupations courses.

High school home economics teachers serve as advisors to the 11,000 local F.H.A. chapters throughout the country. National headquarters are located in Washington, D.C.

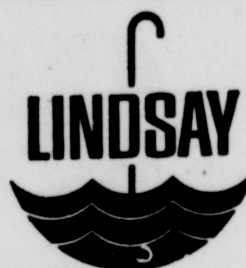

Officers of the Teays Valley chapter are: Deb Irwin, president; Diane Oliver, vice-president; Kathy McPherson, secretary; Jody Harris, treasurer; Sheri Thomas, news reporter; Anita Miller, photographer; Ann Thomas, historian; and Donna Brown, parliamentarian. Mrs. Jerinel Maynard and Mrs. Ruth Tootle serve as advisers.

Teays Valley High School Enrollment Keeps Growing

By ESTILL SALYERS
STEVE REED and
CONNIE CATRON

Teays Valley High School enrollment continues growing as the school year progresses. Three new additions to the freshman and junior classes were interviewed this week.

The Junior Class received a new former student, Bambi Blackard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Blackard. The Blackards live at Gregory's Trailer Court, Route 1, Ashville.

Bambi attended TVHS her freshman and sophomore years, moved to Kentucky and attended Fairview High School for a short time, then came back to TVHS.

Bambi likes boys, creative writing and bowling. She dislikes TV's dress code and cold weather.

Another new student came to TVHS Feb. 28. Her name is Ginger Dixon. She is 16 years old and lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Dixon, Route 2, Ashville.

Ginger, a junior, attended Marion-Franklin High School before coming to Teays Valley. She says she likes our school. When asked about the hours she said, "I like getting home earlier."

Ginger's favorites are orange colors, the song, "Precious and Few," pizza, and TV show, "Laugh In." Ginger enjoys playing the piano and sewing.

When asked how she compared Teays Valley to Marion-Franklin she said, "I like Teays Valley, but there is too much homework."

Ginger's hobbies are secretarial work, John and music.

Penny Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denzel Williams, resides at 11954 Hedges St., Ashville. A freshman, she last attended Canal Winchester High School.

Penny's likes are boys, swimming and dancing. Her dislikes are drugs and big shots.

Her favorite song is "Down by the Lazy River" by the Osmonds. Her hobbies are swimming and skating.

When asked how she liked TV she replied, "I think it's a real cool school with very nice people and cute boys."

New Teacher Has English Classes

RUTHANNE SEIBEL
New English Teacher

By JUDY HANLEY

Miss Ruthanne Seibel is new at Teays Valley this year. She teaches English II and III classes and is head Freshman Class adviser.

Miss Seibel, of 151 1/2 E. Main St., Circleville, is a graduate of Ohio University. This is her first year at TV, and she says that she plans to come back next year.

Writer Seeks Ecology Opinions

By PAM HANNAH

As in many of my articles, I have attempted to make people think about the problems of our United States. Usually, you hear people say, "Writing about ecology or pollution or poverty isn't going to help the situation any." But I feel that if you only think about these things sometimes, you might find yourself caring more than before. Before you can help someone in need, you must find out about the problem and think about how you can possibly help the person.

I took a small survey on ecology at Teays Valley March 10. I asked the question, "When you hear the word ecology, what do you think of?" I asked only seven people because the answers were distressing to me.

Five of the opinions on ecology were as follows:

"I think of all those dirty environment."

"People trying to clean the air, water, and land."

"A lot of things."

"Small amount of people appreciate nature."

"Nothing."

As you can see, some of these people couldn't care less about ecology. Some do though; and I would like to hear more comments about this.

If you would, please write your opinion down on paper, and send it to me. I'm really concerned about ecology and would like to know your thoughts. Send it to: Pam Hannah, c-o Teays Valley High School, Route 2, Ashville, Ohio 43103.

Please think about the world. It's the only one we have. Thank you.

Ohio Weekend Traffic Toll Reaches 14; Slight Decline

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weekend traffic accidents took 14 lives in Ohio between Friday evening and midnight Sunday.

The toll was lower than last week's figure, when 17 died.

Only one accident took more than one life, a crash early Sunday morning in Kettering in which Arlie Polson, 33, and Ira Butler, about 50, both of Kettering, were killed.

Other fatalities included a Wood County motorcyclist and a ten-year-old Xenia girl who ran in front of a car near her home.

The dead:

FRIDAY NIGHT

LONDON — Carl Hawks, 18, West Jefferson, in an accident at a rural Madison County intersection.

POMEROY — Dennis Boggs, 19, of Middleport, when the small foreign car in which he was riding slammed into a bridge and then crashed into an embankment near Pomeroy.

SATURDAY

WARREN — Kenneth Schaffer, age unknown, struck by a car as he walked on a back road in Trumbull County.

XENIA — Dora Kingsbury, 10, Xenia, when she darted into the path of a car near her Greene County home.

BELLEFONTAINE — Ernest Hussy, 22, of near Zanesfield, in a crash near his home town.

WAPAKONETA — Raymond Luedeka, 18, Wapakoneta in a car crash just west of here.

LEWISVILLE — Bruce Hawthorne, 17, of Woodsfield in Monroe County, in a one-car accident on Ohio 78 seven miles west of Lewisville.

BOWLING GREEN — James Bryant, 18, Lime City, when his motorcycle collided with a car in Wood County.

FOSTORIA — Ralph Stewart, 62, of Fostoria, in a two-car crash on Ohio 12 northeast of Fostoria.

SANDUSKY — Helen Ward, 77, of Huron, Erie County, when her car crashed on Ohio 2 near here.

Her comment on Teays Valley students was, "Most of them are okay; however, some insist on creating difficulties."

In her free time Miss Seibel enjoys bowling and working with the community theater.

SUNDAY

BELLEFONTAINE — Harry Snyder Jr., 23, of Zanesfield, in a one car crash in Bellefontaine.

KETTERING — Arlie Polson, 33, and Ira Butler, about 50, both of Kettering, in an early morning crash in Kettering.

WAUSEON — Debbie Roth, 17, of Archbold, in a car-train accident six-tenths of a mile south of Ohio 6 on a county road in Fulton County.

How The Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Spring arrived today on a promising note. Temperatures continue to climb and are expected to reach the low 70s in southern Ohio Tuesday afternoon, compared with readings in the 50s and 60s across the state this afternoon.

The high that dominated Ohio's weather early today is expected to drift east off the East Coast, while a low, centered early today in Kansas pushes north of Ohio.

Cloudiness will increase over the state tonight and Tuesday as the low brings a weak warm front across the Great Lakes.

As the low moves northeast, a cold front trailing to the south will bring showers and thundershowers to the state, probably by late Tuesday.

Temperatures dipped into the 20s in northeastern Ohio overnight. Elsewhere temperatures remained in the 30s.

FORECASTS

LAKE SHORE, NORTHEAST INLAND, NORTHWEST INLAND — Mostly cloudy tonight and Tuesday with a chance of showers or thundershowers Tuesday. Lows tonight in the upper 30s and low 40s. Highs Tuesday in the upper 50s and low 60s.

Akron Youth Faces Charge In Robbery

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Paul Jones, 18, of Akron is to appear in Akron Municipal Court March 29 on a charge of being one of two persons who robbed a Mohawk Rubber executive and security guard at gunpoint.

Jones was placed under $50,000 bond following his arrest Friday. Police are seeking a second man in the $630 theft earlier this week of Mohawk president Henry Faucett, 52, and guard Leslie Beckwith.

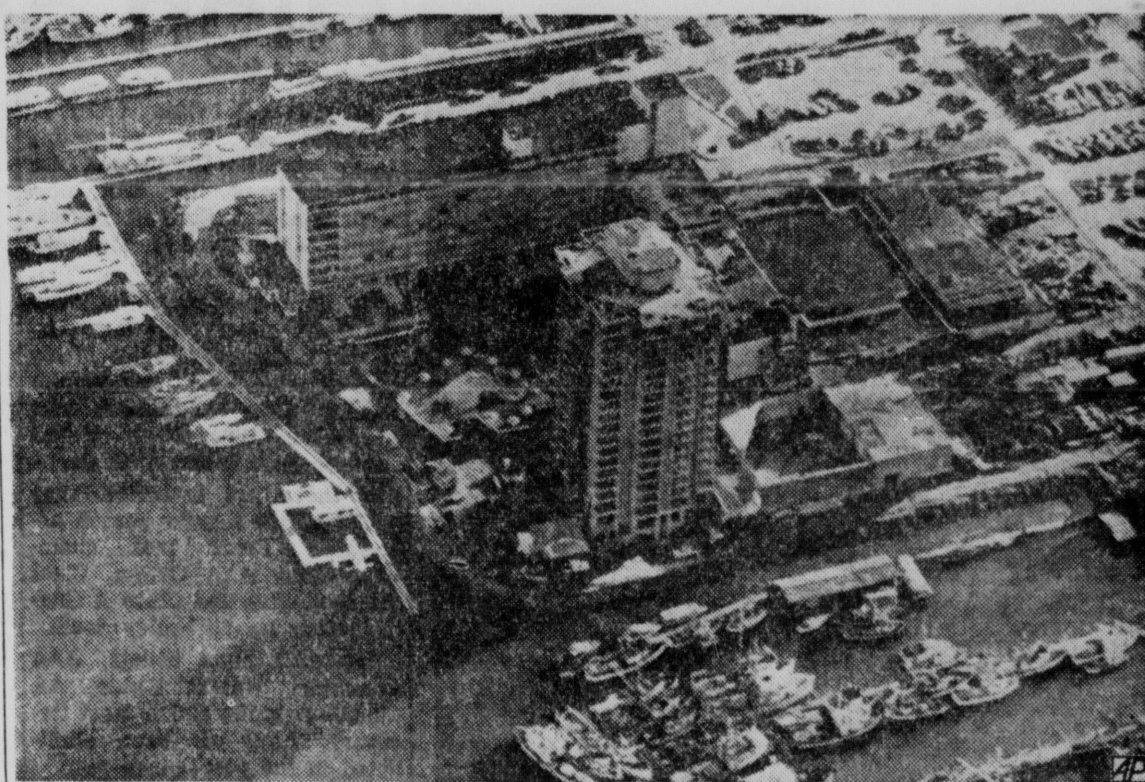

The robbers escaped after piling about 12 tires weighing 250 pounds on the men.

Teays Valley High School Enrollment Keeps Growing

By ESTILL SALYERS
STEVE REED and
CONNIE CATRON

Teays Valley High School enrollment continues growing as the school year progresses. Three new additions to the freshman and junior classes were interviewed this week.

The Junior Class received a new former student, Bambi Blackard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Blackard. The Blackards live at Gregory's Trailer Court, Route 1, Ashville. Bambi attended TVHS her freshman and sophomore years, moved to Kentucky and attended Fairview High School for a short time, then came back to TVHS.

Bambi likes boys, creative writing and bowling. She dislikes TV's dress code and cold weather.

Another new student came to TVHS Feb. 28. Her name is Ginger Dixon. She is 16 years old and lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Dixon, Route 2, Ashville.

Ginger, a junior, attended Marion-Franklin High School before coming to Teays Valley. She says she likes our school. When asked about the hours she said, "I like getting home earlier."

Ginger's favorites are orange colors, the song, "Precious and Few," pizza, and TV show, "Laugh In." Ginger enjoys playing the piano and sewing.

When asked how she compared Teays Valley to Marion-Franklin she said, "I like Teays Valley, but there is too much homework."

Ginger's hobbies are secretarial work, John and music.

Penny Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denzel Williams, resides at 11954 Hedges St., Ashville. A freshman, she last attended Canal Winchester High School.

Penny's likes are boys, swimming and dancing. Her dislikes are drugs and big shots.

Her favorite song is "Down by the Lazy River" by the Osmonds. Her hobbies are swimming and skating.

When asked how she liked TV she replied, "I think it's a real cool school with very nice people and cute boys."

Ohio Weekend Traffic Toll Reaches 14; Slight Decline

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weekend traffic accidents took 14 lives in Ohio between Friday evening and midnight Sunday.

The toll was lower than last week's figure, when 17 died.

Only one accident took more than one life, a crash early Sunday morning in Kettering in which Arlie Polson, 33, and Ira Butler, about 50, both of Kettering, were killed.

Other fatalities included a Wood County motorcyclist and a ten-year-old Xenia girl who ran in front of a car near her home.

The dead:

FRIDAY NIGHT
LONDON — Carl Hawks, 18, West Jefferson, in an accident at a rural Madison County intersection.

POMEROY — Dennis Boggs, 19, of Middleport, when the small foreign car in which he was riding slammed into a bridge and then crashed into an embankment near Pomeroy.

SATURDAY
WARREN — Kenneth Schaffer, age unknown, struck by a car as he walked on a back road in Trumbull County.

XENIA — Dora Kingsbury, 10, Xenia, when she darted into the path of a car near her Greene County home.

BELLEFONTAINE — Ernest Hussy, 22, of near Zanesfield, in a crash near his home town.

WAPAKONETA — Raymond Luedeka, 18, Wapakoneta in a car crash just west of here.

LEWISVILLE — Bruce Hawthorne, 17, of Woodsfield in Monroe County, in a one-car accident on Ohio 78 seven miles west of Lewisville.

BOWLING GREEN — James Bryant, 18, Lima City, when his motorcycle collided with a car in Wood County.

FOSTORIA — Ralph Stewart, 62, of Fostoria, in a two-car crash on Ohio 12 northeast of Fostoria.

SANDUSKY — Helen Ward, 77, of Huron, Erie County, when her car crashed on Ohio 2 near here.

Her comment on Teays Valley students was, "Most of them are okay; however, some insist on creating difficulties."

In her free time Miss Seibel enjoys bowling and working with the community theater.

Writer Seeks Ecology Opinions

By PAM HANNAH

As in many of my articles, I have attempted to make people think about the problems of our United States. Usually, you hear people say, "Writing about ecology or pollution or poverty isn't going to help the situation any." But I feel that if you only think about these things sometimes, you might find yourself caring more than before. Before you can help someone in need, you must find out about the problem and think about how you can possibly help the person.

I took a small survey on ecology at Teays Valley March 10. I asked the question, "When you hear the word ecology, what do you think of?" I asked only seven people because the answers were distressing to me.

Five of the opinions on ecology were as follows:

"I think of all those dirty environment."

"People trying to clean the air, water, and land."

"A lot of things."

"Small amount of people appreciate nature."

"Nothing."

As you can see, some of these people couldn't care less about ecology. Some do though; and I would like to hear more comments about this.

If you would, please write your opinion down on paper, and send it to me. I'm really concerned about ecology and would like to know your thoughts. Send it to: Pam Hannah, c/o Teays Valley High School, Route 2, Ashville, Ohio 43103.

Please think about the world. It's the only one we have. Thank you.

How The Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Spring arrived today on a promising note. Temperatures continue to climb and are expected to reach the low 70s in southern Ohio Tuesday afternoon, compared with readings in the 50s and 60s across the state this afternoon.

The high that dominated Ohio's weather early today is expected to drift east off the East Coast, while a low, centered early today in Kansas pushes north of Ohio.

Cloudiness will increase over the state tonight and Tuesday as the low brings a weak warm front across the Great Lakes.

As the low moves northeast, a cold front trailing to the south will bring showers and thundershowers to the state, probably by late Tuesday.

FORECASTS
LAKE SHORE, NORTHEAST INLAND, NORTHWEST INLAND — Mostly cloudy tonight and Tuesday with a chance of showers or thundershowers Tuesday. Lows tonight in the upper 30s and low 40s. Highs Tuesday in the upper 50s and low 60s.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL.

SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST — Considerable cloudiness tonight and Tuesday with a chance of showers or thundershowers Tuesday. Lows tonight in the 40s. Highs Tuesday from the mid 60s to low 70s.

Akron Youth Faces Charge In Robbery

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Paul Jones, 18, of Akron is to appear in Akron Municipal Court March 29 on a charge of being one of two persons who robbed a Mohawk Rubber executive and security guard at gunpoint.

Jones was placed under $50,000 bond following his arrest Friday. Police are seeking a second man in the $630 theft earlier this week of Mohawk president Henry Faucett, 52, and guard Leslie Beckwith.

The robbers escaped after piling about 12 tires weighing 250 pounds on the men.

High School Tourney Opens Thursday

AFTER FIGHT — Roanoke College forward Jay Piccola, hurt in a fight on the floor during game with Eastern Michigan University, is helped to sidelines in Evansville, Ind. Fight occurred during NCAA college division playoffs.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coaches of the competing teams refuse to predict the champions of the 50th Ohio High School Basketball Tournament, which begins Thursday night at Ohio State.

"I don't know anything about the other classes and I certainly don't want to predict in my own division," said one mentor Sunday after a luncheon with governing Ohio High School Athletic Association officials.

If there are favorites, they would be the regular season Associated Press poll champions, Class AAA Celina, Class AA Lexington and Class A Gadenhutzen Indian Valley South.

The 1971 state titlists, AAA Columbus Walnut Ridge, AA Canton Lehman and A Fort Recovery, have all been eliminated in the post-season play.

One former title winner is among the 12 survivors. Cleveland East Tech took the 1958-59 championships in Class AA when there were only two divisions.

East Tech, third ranked with a 23-1 record, is a Class AAA semifinalist for the second straight time and 10th in the last 17 seasons.

The Scarabs, who lost to Dayton Dunbar in the 1971 semifinals, will face Celina, 24-0, at 3:30 p.m. Friday. Cincinnati Princeton, 20-4, and Akron Central, 23-2, play the Class AAA semifinal opener at 11:30 a.m. Friday.

The three-day event opens in

St. John Arena with the Class AA semifinals.

Fourth rated Columbus Ready, 23-1, goes against No. 6 Middletown Madison, 24-1, at 7:30 p.m. Lexington, 24-0, and Poland, 22-2, follow at 9:30 p.m.

In Class A semifinals Friday, Gadenhutzen Indian Valley South, 23-0, tangles with Cincinnati St. Bernard, 21-5, at 7:30 p.m. and Morral Ridgedale, 19-5, and Continental, 19-5, battle at 9:30 p.m.

All championship contests are Saturday with Class AA at 11:30 a.m., Class AAA at 3 p.m. and Class A at 7:30 p.m.

Commissioner Harold Meyer said all sessions in 13,489-seat St. John Arena will be sellouts except possibly the Class AA and A title games. If the competing schools do not buy all of those tickets, they will be sold at the door Saturday.

Celina knocked off Columbus Walnut Ridge 69-52 for the Columbus Regional title Saturday night.

In other Class AAA regionals, Akron Central-Hover bombed No. 2 Boardman 81-60 at the Canton Auditorium, Cleveland East Tech shot down Cleveland Heights 90-72 at the Canton Fieldhouse and Cincinnati Princeton whacked previously unbeaten Springfield North 71-63 at Cincinnati.

In Class AA regional finals, Columbus Ready beat Sunbury

Big Walnut 62-53 at Columbus, Middletown Madison nipped Cincinnati Loveland 62-61 at Oxford, Lexington eliminated Akron South 69-58 at Bowling

Green and Poland edged Warren LaBrae 60-58 at Copley. In Class A, it was Continental 89, Hardin Northern 87 at Bowling Green; Indian Valley South

64, Columbia Station 51 at Steubenville, Morral Ridgedale 67, Lancaster Fisher 61 at Athens, and Cincinnati St. Bernard 60, Anna 55 at Oxford.

NFL Officials Open Meet On Major Rules Change

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
HONOLULU (AP) — The National Football League's Competition Committee, having concluded deliberations on the island of Maui, was ready today to set before the assembled NFL owners suggestions for rules changes that might significantly alter the nature of the game.

The Competition Committee has been examining the balance between offense and defense—a balance that appears to have been tilted in favor of defensive forces—with an eye toward suggesting possible remedies for the situation. It is a critical decision for the NFL ownership, which has witnessed during the last two years a dropoff in scoring of more than 100 touchdowns—a fact that some believe threatens the popularity of the sport.

Besides possible proposals aimed at aiding offenses, the owners also are likely to have placed before them two proposals on sudden death—one aimed at changing its nature and the other aimed at making it mandatory for all tie games.

Also on the agenda is selection of a site for Super Bowl VII next January, the ticklish subject of the Chicago All-Star game, several proposals to amend the constitution and various committee reports.

The rules, however, are the major item on the agenda—for there appears to be considerable concern about the nosedive in scoring attributed to constantly improving defenses.

In the weeks prior to their private sessions, the Competition Committee composed of Paul Brown of Cincinnati, Tex Schramm of Dallas, Jim Finks of Minnesota and Al Davis of Oakland, tangled with a host of suggestions put forward for their consideration.

Among them were proposals for increasing the value of the touchdown, cutting down on field goals as a means of forcing teams to continue drives, pinning defensive linemen down rather than permitting continued movement, and a suggestion that the field be widened.

While all were of a technical nature, the purpose was singular—more scoring.

The proposals involving sudden death were in another category. The one suggesting that all games tied at the end of regulation play be continued in sudden death seemed doomed to defeat.

But serious consideration likely will be given proposals to change the nature of sudden death, in effect for all post-season action.

The proposals were aimed at preventing a situation in which a team wins the coin flip prior to sudden death and then immediately drives for a field goal that wins the game, without the opposition ever getting the ball.

There was a strong feeling that determining the outcome of a game by that means—almost as a result of winning the coin flip—left something to be desired. There have been several alternatives proposed.

Selection of a Super Bowl site was expected to be decided Tuesday. The likely candidates were Miami, New Orleans and Los Angeles—all previous hosts—Dallas, Houston, Palo Alto, Calif., and possibly Kansas City and Jacksonville, Fla.

The Chicago All-Star game is up for discussion, with the 1972 game the last of the current contract. There appeared to be some sentiment to either doing away with the game or finding a more suitable game than a match-up between the Super Bowl champs and College All-Stars.

Supreme Court Takes Up Flood Baseball Lawsuit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today took up Curt Flood's suit against organized baseball.

Former Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, in arguments prepared for a one-hour hearing, contended that the contract that binds a player to one team directly violates antitrust laws.

Goldberg, representing the former St. Louis Cardinal centerfielder, urged the court to reverse a 1972 decision that exempted baseball from laws regulating interstate commerce. He said the ruling was an anachronism.

But Paul A. Porter, a Washington attorney, and Louis L. Hoynes Jr., a New York lawyer, cautioned that the reserve system is the cornerstone of baseball.

Without it, they said, the wealthiest teams in the largest cities would attract the best players, destroying baseball's competitive balance.

Backed by the players' union, Flood brought his damage suit against baseball after the Cardinals traded him to the Philadelphia Phillies in 1969. He wanted to be made a "free agent," at liberty to play for a team of his choosing.

At the very least, Goldberg said, baseball should give players the limited freedom of action provided in football, basketball, hockey and other sports.

In his brief Goldberg argued baseball "is big business" and ought to be treated as such.

"The Sherman Act has long prohibited businessmen from entering into concerted agreements to eliminate competition among themselves in the procurement of commodities essential to their businesses. And businessmen are plainly prohibited by the act from utilizing concerted refusals to deal, or group boycotts.

"There is little question but that organized baseball's reserve system falls squarely within these per se proscriptions."

Porter and Hoynes said Flood's complaint is fundamentally a labor-management dispute and any change should be worked out by the ballplayers' union and the club-owners.

"There is a blend of competition and partnership among the clubs in baseball which would be both unnecessary and improper in the normal business world."

A final decision by the justices is expected before the end of June.

PVHS Basketball Coach Resigns

BAINBRIDGE — Pete Dunkle, head basketball coach at Paint Valley High School for the past four years, has resigned to pursue a career in guidance counseling or administrative work.

He recently received his master's degree from Xavier. In his letter of resignation, Dunkle recommended reserve coach Dave Senff be promoted into his vacated position. Paint Valley is a member of the Scioto Valley Conference.

29 Candidates Seek Berths On TVHS Track Team

Teays Valley High School has 29 candidates for the 1972 track team, it was reported by head coach Bob Hoover. Nine of the candidates are returning lettermen.

Heading the list of returning lettermen is senior Jack Brinker, a veteran in the shot and discus.

Other senior lettermen are Bob Smith in the two mile, Randy Nungester in the high jump and pole vault and Jeff Sheets in the high hurdles and 440 yard dash.

Junior lettermen returning include Steve Clark in the dashes, David Archer in the 880 and 2-mile, Howard Reed and John Little, both shot and discus and Terry Lockard in the 2-mile. Other junior candidates are Jim Williamson and Elmer Hines.

SOPHOMORES seeking a berth on the squad are Gary Hines, Boyd Palsgrove, Tony Sayres, Jim Logsdon, Bill Murry, Tim Logan, Dennis Taylor, Steve Gray and Lance Henson.

The first meet is April 4 at Franklin Heights.

Here is a list of meets that the Vikings will be running in this season:

- April 4 — at Franklin Heights

Cincinnati Reds Lose To Pittsburgh

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, held to one run in a three-game exhibition series with the Pittsburgh Pirates in Venezuela, traveled here today for a contest against the New York Mets.

The Pirates shut out the Reds Friday and Saturday and then rolled over them 8-1 Sunday.

The Reds have tallied only two runs in their last 42 innings of exhibition games.

Angels Thursday ... in style.

Crum's Cardinals, winners of the NCAA Midwest Regional, will play the Bruins, winners of the Far West, in an NCAA Tournament semifinal. Crum will be coaching against his boss of three years, John Wooden.

When Crum left UCLA, Wooden said, "I consider Denny a top head coaching prospect," but the Bruins' mentor said last week, "He's coaching Louisville and I'm coaching UCLA. We don't play Coach Crum, we play Louisville."

In the regional championship games Saturday, Louisville defeated Kansas State 72-65 in the Midwest, UCLA topped Long Beach State 73-57 in the West, North Carolina routed Penn in the East 73-59, and Florida State downed Kentucky 73-54 in the Midwest.

Florida State plays North Carolina in the other national semifinal at Los Angeles Thursday.

"I can't wait to get back to Los Angeles for the Nationals," Crum said after his team's victory.

Still, the Louisville coach, who helped UCLA to three of its five straight national titles with his recruiting prowess, isn't kidding himself about playing the Bruins, a team which is 28-0 this season and with a 42-game winning streak.

"I'm sure there won't be any secret about what both of us do," he said. "We have scouted them and I know quite a bit about the Bruins, but I'm not sure my knowing will make a lot of difference."

Jim Price, the tournament's most valuable player, led the Cardinals Saturday with 25 points.

Last season the Bruins defeated Long Beach 57-55 in the regional game. They didn't have that trouble Saturday as Henry Bibby scored 23 points and 6-foot-11 Bill Walton hit 19.

Florida State ruined Adolph Rupp's chance to take Kentucky to the national semifinals as Ron King scored 22 points for the Seminoles. Florida State held the Wildcats without a basket for almost eight minutes of the second half.

Rupp, 70, faces mandatory retirement after a record 879 victories in 42 seasons.

In the regional consolation games, South Carolina defeated Villanova 90-78 in the East, Minnesota topped Marquette 77-72 in the Midwest, Southwestern Louisiana routed Texas 100-70 in the Midwest and San Francisco downed Weber State 74-64 in the Far West.

Bob Hamilton OC Coach Of The Year

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP) — Bob Hamilton of Ohio Conference Tournament champion Wittenberg University was named the league's coach of the year today by his fellow mentors.

After a 2-5 start, Hamilton guided the Tigers to a 17-10 season mark, the school's sixth league tournament title in 13 years and a NCAA Great Lakes Regional Tournament berth.

Wittenberg lost to Evansville 81-73 in the NCAA post-season event.

Nets Continue String Of Victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Amazon! Nets! Sound familiar?

The Nets continued their run at second-place Virginia Sunday night with a 121-117 victory over Indiana. It was their seventh triumph in a row and left them only 1½ games behind the idle Squires in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

Tony Jacklin Jacksonville Golf Winner

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — "I had a lot of things to prove to a lot of people—including Tony Jacklin."

Jacklin was discussing his playoff victory over Johnny Jacobs Sunday for the $25,000 first prize in the Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

"There was a lot on my shoulders," the handsome young Englishman said.

"Even though you've won two major championships, people forget in a hurry."

"So this one is extra nice. I'm very, very happy—very gratified."

Jacklin, winner of the 1969 British and the 1970 United States Open Championships, had suffered through a poor 1971 season before climaxing his comeback with a decision over Jacobs on the first extra hole at the Hidden Hills Country Club House.

Tony scored a par four while Jacobs, a former combat infantryman in Vietnam, made a bogey after pushing his drive deep into the woods and hitting a treetop with his second shot.

"I just choked," said Jacobs, who won only $6,181 last year before getting hit with a six-month suspension that has just been lifted. He ran afoul of a Tournament Players Division regulation concerning financial responsibility.

Jacklin, who placed 102nd on the money list last year after winning $19,977 caught the front-running Jacobs with a birdie on the long par five 17th hole.

He finished with a four-under-par 68 for 283. Jacobs matched that 72 hole total with a final round 70.

C-US-GO Tops Team Events In Tourney

C-US-GO remains the top team at the conclusion of the second week of competition in the Men's City Tournament with a total of 3,170 pins.

Noel's Country Kitchen, Early Monday Night League at Circle 'D,' has taken over second spot with 3,115 pins while Dupi's Duds dropped to third place with 3,086.

Tom Eveland and Charles Eveland led the doubles events with 1,358, David Hicks and Tom Wright are in second spot with 1,327 while David Blue and Ray Reichelderfer are third with 1,274.

Charles Eveland is the singles leader with 694 pins, Walt Brzycki holds second place with 686 and David Blue is third with 673 pins.

The All-Events leader is Charles Eveland with 1,933, Walt Brzycki is second with 1,914 and Tom Wright holds third spot with 1,895 pins.

Play concludes this weekend with team events set for Saturday at Prairie Lanes and doubles and singles set for Sunday at Circle 'D' Lanes.

Highlights in World of Sports

NEW YORK (AP) — Brian Taylor isn't the only guard at Princeton. There's another guy back there, although he gets little notice.

"He's terrific," says Princeton basketball Coach Pete Carroll, speaking of Ted Manakas.

He certainly was Sunday when he led the Tigers to a 68-60 victory over Indiana in the National Invitation Tournament.

lege was selected today as the best basketball player in the Ohio Conference by the league's 13 head coaches.

The 6-foot-3 senior from Cleveland led the conference in scoring with an average of 24.9 points per game, scoring more than 30 in six contests.

Hunt's 1,544 career point total puts him fourth among Kenyon scorers behind John Rinka, John Dunlop and Jim Smith.

High School Tourney Opens Thursday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coaches of the competing teams refuse to predict the champions of the 50th Ohio High School Basketball Tournament, which begins Thursday night at Ohio State.

"I don't know anything about the other classes and I certainly don't want to predict in my own division," said one mentor Sunday after a luncheon with governing Ohio High School Athletic Association officials.

If there are favorites, they would be the regular season Associated Press poll champions, Class AAA Celina, Class AA Lexington and Class A Gadenhutzen Indian Valley South.

The 1971 state titlists, AAA Columbus Walnut Ridge, AA Canton Lehman and A Fort Recovery, have all been eliminated in the post-season play.

One former title winner is among the 12 survivors. Cleveland East Tech took the 1958-59 championships in Class AA when there were only two divisions.

East Tech, third ranked with a 23-1 record, is a Class AAA semifinalist for the second straight time and 10th in the last 17 seasons.

The Scarabs, who lost to Dayton Dunbar in the 1971 semifinals, will face Celina, 24-0, at 3:30 p.m. Friday. Cincinnati Princeton, 20-4, and Akron Central, 23-2, play the Class AAA semifinal opener at 11:30 a.m. Friday.

The three-day event opens in

St. John Arena with the Class AA semifinals.

Fourth-rated Columbus Ready, 23-1, goes against No. 6 Middletown Madison, 24-1, at 7:30 p.m. Lexington, 24-0, and Poland, 22-2, follow at 9:30 p.m.

In Class A semifinals Friday, Gadenhutzen Indian Valley South, 23-0, tangles with Cincinnati St. Bernard, 21-5, at 7:30 p.m. and Morral Ridgedale, 19-5, and Continental, 19-5, battle at 9:30 p.m.

All championship contests are Saturday with Class AA at 11:30 a.m., Class AAA at 3 p.m. and Class A at 7:30 p.m.

Commissioner Harold Meyer said all sessions in 13,489-seat St. John Arena will be sellouts except possibly the Class AA and A title games. If the competing schools do not buy all of those tickets, they will be sold at the door Saturday.

Celina knocked off Columbus Walnut Ridge 69-52 for the Columbus Regional title Saturday night.

In other Class AAA regionals, Akron Central-Hower bombed No. 2 Boardman 81-60 at the Canton Auditorium, Cleveland East Tech shot down Cleveland Heights 90-72 at the Canton Fieldhouse and Cincinnati Princeton whacked previously unbeaten Springfield North 71-63 at Cincinnati.

In Class AA regional finals, Columbus Ready beat Sunbury

Big Walnut 62-53 at Columbus, Middletown Madison nipped Cincinnati Loveland 62-61 at Oxford, Lexington eliminated Akron South 69-58 at Bowling

Green and Poland edged Warren LaBree 60-58 at Copley. In Class A, it was Continental 39, Hardin Northern 37 at Bowling Green; Indian Valley South

64, Columbia Station 51 at Steubenville, Morral Ridgedale 67, Lancaster Fisher 61 at Athens, and Cincinnati St. Bernard 60, Anna 55 at Oxford.

Crum, Cardinals Will Face UCLA

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Denny Crum left an assistant's post at UCLA last year to become head basketball coach at Louisville. He returns to Los Angeles Thursday ... in style. Crum's Cardinals, winners of the NCAA Midwest Regional, will play the Bruins, winners of the Far West, in an NCAA Tournament semifinal. Crum will be coaching against his boss of three years, John Wooden.

When Crum left UCLA, Wooden said, "I consider Denny a top head coaching prospect," but the Bruins' mentor said last week, "He's coaching Louisville and I'm coaching UCLA. We don't play Coach Crum, we play Louisville."

In the regional championship games Saturday, Louisville defeated Kansas State 72-65 in the Midwest, UCLA topped Long Beach State 73-57 in the West, North Carolina routed Penn in the East 73-59, and Florida State downed Kentucky 73-54 in the Midwest.

Florida State plays North Carolina in the other national semifinal at Los Angeles Thursday.

"I can't wait to get back to Los Angeles for the Nationals," Crum said after his team's victory.

Still, the Louisville coach, who helped UCLA to three of its five straight national titles with his recruiting prowess, isn't kidding himself about playing the Bruins, a team which is 28-0 this season and with a 42-game winning streak.

"I'm sure there won't be any secret about what both of us do," he said. "We have scouted them and I know quite a bit about the Bruins, but I'm not sure my knowing will make a lot of difference."

Jim Price, the tournament's most valuable player, led the Cardinals Saturday with 25 points.

Last season the Bruins defeated Long Beach 57-55 in the regional game. They didn't have that trouble Saturday as Henry Bibby scored 23 points and 6-foot-11 Bill Walton hit 19.

Florida State ruined Adolph Rupp's chance to take Kentucky to the national semifinals as Ron King scored 22 points for the Seminoles. Florida State held the Wildcats without a basket for almost eight minutes of the second half.

Rupp, 70, faces mandatory retirement after a record 879 victories in 42 seasons.

In the regional consolation games, South Carolina defeated Villanova 90-78 in the East, Minnesota topped Marquette 77-72 in the Midwest, Southwestern Louisiana routed Texas 100-70 in the Midwest and San Francisco downed Weber State 74-64 in the Far West.

Bob Hamilton OC Coach Of The Year

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP)—Bob Hamilton of Ohio Conference Tournament champion Wittenberg University was named the league's coach of the year today by his fellow mentors.

After a 2-5 start, Hamilton guided the Tigers to a 17-10 season mark, the school's sixth league tournament title in 13 years and a NCAA Great Lakes Regional Tournament berth. Wittenberg lost to Evansville 81-73 in the NCAA post-season event.

Nets Continue String Of Victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Amazin' Nets! Sound familiar? The Nets continued their run at second-place Virginia Sunday night with a 121-117 victory over Indiana. It was their seventh triumph in a row and left them only 1½ games behind the idle Squires in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

Tony Jacklin Jacksonville Golf Winner

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — "I had a lot of things to prove to a lot of people—including Tony Jacklin."

Jacklin was discussing his playoff victory over Johnny Jacobs Sunday for the $25,000 first prize in the Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

"There was a lot on my shoulders," the handsome young Englishman said. "Even though you've won two major championships, people forget in a hurry."

"So this one is extra nice. I'm very, very happy—very gratified." Jacklin, winner of the 1969 British and the 1970 United States Open Championships, had suffered through a poor 1971 season before clinching his comeback with a decision over Jacobs on the first extra hole at the Hidden Hills Country Club Course.

Tony scored a par four while Jacobs, a former combat infantryman in Vietnam, made a bogey after pushing his drive deep into the woods and hitting a treetop with his second shot. "I just choked," said Jacobs, who won only $6,181 last year before getting hit with a six-month suspension that has just been lifted. He ran afoul of a Tournament Players Division regulation concerning financial responsibility.

Jacklin, who placed 102nd on the money list last year after winning $19,977 caught the front-running Jacobs with a birdie on the long par five 17th hole.

He finished with a four-under-par 68 for 283. Jacobs matched that 72 hole total with a final round 70.

C-US-GO Tops Team Events In Tourney

C-US-GO remains the top team at the conclusion of the second week of competition in the Men's City Tournament with a total of 3,170 pins.

Noel's Country Kitchen, Early Monday Night League at Circle 'D,' has taken over second spot with 3,115 pins while Dupi's Duds dropped to third place with 3,086.

Tom Eveland and Charles Eveland led the doubles events with 1,358, David Hicks and Tom Wright are in second spot with 1,327 while David Blue and Ray Reichelderfer are third with 1,274.

Charles Eveland is the singles leader with 694 pins, Walt Brzycki holds second place with 686 and David Blue is third with 673 pins.

The All-Events leader is Charles Eveland with 1,933, Walt Brzycki is second with 1,914 and Tom Wright holds third spot with 1,895 pins.

Play concludes this weekend with team events set for Saturday at Prairie Lanes and doubles and singles set for Sunday at Circle "D" Lanes.

Highlights in World of Sports

NEW YORK (AP) — Brian Taylor isn't the only guard at Princeton. There's another guy back there, although he gets little notice.

"He's terrific," says Princeton basketball Coach Pete Carroll, speaking of Ted Manakas.

He certainly was Sunday when he led the Tigers to a 68-60 victory over Indiana in the National Invitation Tournament.

The victory in the nationally televised contest moved Princeton into a Tuesday night quarter-final date with Niagara, a 76-57 winner over Texas-El Paso in the second game of Sunday's doubleheader.

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP)—Marty Hunt of Kenyon College was selected today as the best basketball player in the Ohio Conference by the league's 13 head coaches.

The 6-foot-3 senior from Cleveland led the conference in scoring with an average of 24.9 points per game, scoring more than 30 in six contests.

Hunt's 1,544 career point total puts him fourth among Kenyon scorers behind John Rinka, John Dunlop and Jim Smith.

NFL Officials Open Meet On Major Rules Change

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
HONOLULU (AP) — The National Football League's Competition Committee, having concluded deliberations on the island of Maui, was ready today to set before the assembled NFL owners suggestions for rules changes that might significantly alter the nature of the game.

The Competition Committee has been examining the balance between offense and defense—a balance that appears to have been tilted in favor of defensive forces—with an eye toward suggesting possible remedies for the situation.

It is a critical decision for the NFL ownership, which has witnessed during the last two years a dropoff in scoring of more than 100 touchdowns—a fact that some believe threatens the popularity of the sport.

Besides possible proposals aimed at aiding offenses, the owners also are likely to have placed before them two proposals on sudden death—one aimed at changing its nature and the other aimed at making it mandatory for all tie games.

Also on the agenda is selection of a site for Super Bowl VII next January, the ticklish subject of the Chicago All-Star game, several proposals to amend the constitution and various committee reports.

The rules, however, are the major item on the agenda—for there appears to be considerable concern about the nosedive in scoring attributed to constantly improving defenses.

In the weeks prior to their private sessions, the Competition Committee composed of Paul Brown of Cincinnati, Tex Schramm of Dallas, Jim Finks of Minnesota and Al Davis of Oakland, tangled with a host of suggestions put forward for their consideration.

Among them were proposals for increasing the value of the touchdown, cutting down on field goals as a means of forcing teams to continue drives, pinning defensive linemen down rather than permitting continued movement, and a suggestion that the field be widened.

While all were of a technical nature, the purpose was singular—more scoring.

The proposals involving sudden death were in another category. The one suggesting that all games tied at the end of regulation play be continued in sudden death seemed doomed to defeat.

But serious consideration likely will be given proposals to change the nature of sudden death, in effect for all post-season action.

The proposals were aimed at preventing a situation in which a team wins the coin flip prior to sudden death and then immediately drives for a field goal that wins the game, without the opposition ever getting the ball.

There was a strong feeling that determining the outcome of a game by that means—almost as a result of winning the coin flip—left something to be desired. There have been several alternatives proposed.

Selection of a Super Bowl site was expected to be decided Tuesday. The likely candidates were Miami, New Orleans and Los Angeles—all previous hosts.—Dallas, Houston, Palo Alto, Calif., and possibly Kansas City and Jacksonville, Fla.

The Chicago All-Star game is up for discussion, with the 1972 game the last of the current contract. There appeared to be some sentiment to either doing away with the game or finding a more suitable game than a match-up between the Super Bowl champs and College All-Stars.

Supreme Court Takes Up Flood Baseball Lawsuit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today took up Curt Flood's suit against organized baseball.

Former Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, in arguments prepared for a one-hour hearing, contended that the contract that binds a player to one team directly violates antitrust laws.

Goldberg, representing the former St. Louis Cardinal centerfielder, urged the court to reverse a 1922 decision that exempted baseball from laws regulating interstate commerce. He said the ruling was an anachronism.

But Paul A. Porter, a Washington attorney, and Louis L. Haynes Jr., a New York lawyer, cautioned that the reserve system is the cornerstone of baseball.

Without it, they said, the wealthiest teams in the largest cities would attract the best players, destroying baseball's competitive balance.

Backed by the players' union, Flood brought his damage suit against baseball after the Cardinals traded him to the Philadelphia Phillies in 1969. He wanted to be made a "free agent," at liberty to play for a team of his choosing.

At the very least, Goldberg said, baseball should give players the limited freedom of action provided in football, basketball, hockey and other sports.

In his brief Goldberg argued baseball "is big business" and ought to be treated as such.

"The Sherman Act has long prohibited businessmen from entering into concerted agreements to eliminate competition among themselves in the procurement of commodities essential to their businesses. And businessmen are plainly prohibited by the act from utilizing concerted refusals to deal, or group boycotts."

"There is little question but that organized baseball's reserve system falls squarely within these per se proscriptions."

Porter and Haynes said Flood's complaint is fundamentally a labor-management dispute and any change should be worked out by the ballplayers' union and the club-owners.

"There is a blend of competition and partnership among the clubs in baseball which would be both unnecessary and improper in the normal business world."

A final decision by the justices is expected before the end of June.

PVHS Basketball Coach Resigns

BAINBRIDGE — Pete Dunkle, head basketball coach at Paint Valley High School for the past four years, has resigned to pursue a career in guidance counseling or administrative work.

He recently received his master's degree from Xavier. In his letter of resignation, Dunkle recommended reserve coach Dave Senff be promoted into his vacated position. Paint Valley is a member of the Scioto Valley Conference.

Unser, Eagle Win Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — They call it "the screaming eagle."

Bobby Unser describes it, a bit apprehensively, as "by far the fastest race car I've ever sat in."

The eagle is Dan Gurney's newest race car, and with Unser at the wheel the eagle flew at Phoenix Saturday.

Unser, the 1968 Indianapolis winner, not only set an astonishing one-mile lap record of 141.996 miles per hour to win the pole position, but he survived three costly pit stops and won the Phoenix 15-mile season opener for United States Auto Club championship cars.

"It's a car you can't afford to take chances with," the 33-year-old former national driving champion said. "We ran a 2.5 mile lap at Ontario (Calif.) 10 days ago at 196 m.p.h. and 10 straight laps at 193 or better. At that speed, you have to drive very, very carefully."

Unser, who collected about $10,000 in prize money for only his third victory in almost two years, said Gurney's new All-American Eagle is capable of 190 m.p.h. at Indianapolis, where the one-lap mark stands at 179.354.

"I don't say I'll drive it that fast when we get to Indy in May, but the car can do it."

29 Candidates Seek Berths On TVHS Track Team

Teays Valley High School has 29 candidates for the 1972 track team, it was reported by head coach Bob Hoover. Nine of the candidates are returning lettermen.

Heading the list of returning lettermen is senior Jack Brinker, a veteran in the shot and discus.

Other senior lettermen are Bob Smith in the two mile, Randy Nungester in the high jump and pole vault and Jeff Sheets in the high hurdles and 440-yard dash.

Junior lettermen returning include Steve Clark in the dashes, David Archer in the 880 and 2-mile, Howard Reed and John Little, both shot and discus and Terry Lockard in the 2-mile. Other junior candidates are Jim Williamson and Elmer Hines.

SOPHOMORES seeking a berth on the squad are Gary Hines, Boyd Paisgrove, Tony Sayres, Jim Logsdon, Bill Murry, Tim Logan, Dennis Taylor, Steve Gray and Lance Henson.

The first meet is April 4 at Franklin Heights.

Here is a list of meets that the Vikings will be running in this season:

- April 4 — at Franklin Heights
- April 6 — at Hamilton
- April 11 — Groveport
- April 12 — at Bishop Wherle
- April 15 — at Circleville

Cincinnati Reds Lose To Pittsburgh

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, held to one run in a three-game exhibition series with the Pittsburgh Pirates in Venezuela, traveled here today for a contest against the New York Mets.

The Pirates shut out the Reds Friday and Saturday and then rolled over them 8-1 Sunday.

The Reds have tallied only two runs in their last 42 innings of exhibition games.

Class AAA All-Ohio Stars Named By AP

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A pair of slick guards combines with high-scoring giants to form The Associated Press 1972 Class AAA All-Ohio high school basketball squad.

The eight-man first team, selected on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters, includes six performers 6-foot-4 or taller.

The biggest man on the squad, 6-9 Craig Taylor of Springfield North, earned Ohio player of the year honors in one of the closest races in history.

Taylor won on his all-around credentials: 18.1 point scoring average, 13.6 rebounds a game and 88 blocked shots in Springfield North's 18 straight regular season victories.

Right behind North's big senior center came 6-6 Craig Lynch of Toledo Start and 6-5 Scott May of Sandusky, both of whom averaged more than 27 points during the season.

May was a second team all-star selection a year ago while Lynch earned a third team berth in 1971.

Joining the three on the first unit were two splendid guards, 6-1 Jay Powell of Boardman and 6-foot Dave Hanners of 1971 Class AAA champion Columbus Walnut Ridge.

Also landing spots on the first squad were 6-5 Andy Stiegemeier of Kent Roosevelt, 6-4 Archie Aldridge of Middletown and 6-4 Brian Williams of Columbus South.

Aldridge and Williams are juniors on the otherwise senior team.

Aldridge led the all-stars in scoring with a 27.8 average, followed closely by Lynch's 27.3 mark and May's 27.1 figure. Stiegemeier hit 26.8 points a game, Williams 25.5, Powell 21.5 and Hanners 18.0.

Second team berths went to Dave Kyle of East Liverpool, Mike Lovenguth of Portsmouth, Ken Brooks of Findlay, James Abrams of Cleveland East Tech, Bradley Robinson of Akron Central-Hower, Larry Allen of Hamilton Taft, Bob Smyth of Xenia Beavercreek and Rick Lilienthal of Cambridge.

Third team members included Earl Hill of Alliance, Randy Foster of Newark, Chuck Williams of Columbus East, Dave Smith of Athens, Curt Shellabarger of Celina, Bernard Pope of Toledo Scott, Dave Bromley of Kettering Fairmont West and Mike Harris of Columbus North.

We want this summer to be the best summer you ever had.

Have you noticed how many young families get carried away with Chevelle?

They get carried away to lands of history and fantasy like Six Flags Over Georgia, enjoying a ride as soft as cotton candy and handling as precise as if their Chevelles were on rails.

We built quality into Chevelle from one end of its mid-size wheelbase to the other because we want it to be the best car you ever owned. For example, we put Full Coil suspension and cushions of rubber between the frame and body to keep noise out of the passenger compartment. Plus a sturdy steel guard beam in every door, double panels in the door, in the hood, in the deck lid. And up inside the fenders—inner fenders that help protect against corrosion.

There's also an engine that operates on regular, no-lead or low-lead fuel, a battery with sealed terminals on the side so corrosion won't build up and a new front seat belt system that reminds you to buckle up.

Just try a Chevelle once and even those "wild indians" at Six Flags couldn't tear you away from it. Have fun.

Impala starts you relaxing long before you get where you're going.

No matter how far you're traveling on vacation, you start enjoying your trip as soon as you start your new Impala.

It's so easy to drive. Impala's standard power front disc brakes, power steering and automatic Turbo Hydra-matic transmission make the miles fly by.

It's also exceptionally comfortable—even for a family of six, complete with all the luggage it takes to take a vacation. According to the Automotive Industries 1972 Roominess Index, Chevrolet Impala is the roomiest car in its field.

So forget about the wallpapering, the painting, the weeding. You're going to have a lot of wonderful trips in your new Impala. And when you arrive, you won't have to rest up before you relax.

Our newest Nova. Now you can be practical and also ask for the sun.

A sun roof just in time for summer. And on one of the easiest cars you can own. Nova is priced right next to the little cars. So picture yourself in a new Nova with some extra vacation money.

And there are two more nice things about Nova: In a 1971 survey of independent mechanics, conducted by Motor Service and Service Station Management, Nova was voted the car with the least mechanical problems. And the easiest to service. And that's economy in the truest sense of the word.

No doubt about it—we want your new Nova to be the best car you ever owned. Come rain or come shine.

Chevrolet. Building a better way to see the U.S.A.

There's so much to see, make sure you're around to see it. Buckle up.

Class AAA All-Ohio Stars Named By AP

The Circleville Herald, Mon. Mar. 20, 1972 13
Circleville, Ohio

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A pair of slick guards combines with high-scoring giants to form The Associated Press 1972 Class AAA All-Ohio high school basketball squad.

The eight-man first team, selected on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters, includes six performers 6-foot-4 or taller.

The biggest man on the squad, 6-9 Craig Taylor of Springfield North, earned Ohio player of the year honors in one of the closest races in history.

Taylor won on his all-around credentials: 18.1 point scoring average, 13.6 rebounds a game and 88 blocked shots in Springfield North's 18 straight regular season victories.

Right behind North's big senior center came 6-6 Craig Lynch of Toledo Start and 6-5 Scott May of Sandusky, both of whom averaged more than 27 points during the season.

May was a second team all-state selection a year ago while Lynch earned a third team berth in 1971.

Joining the three on the first unit were two splendid guards, 6-1 Jay Powell of Boardman and 6-foot Dave Hanners of 1971 Class AAA champion Columbus Walnut Ridge.

Also landing spots on the first squad were 6-5 Andy Stiegemeier of Kent Roosevelt, 6-4 Archie Aldridge of Middletown and 6-4 Brian Williams of Columbus South.

Aldridge and Williams are juniors on the otherwise senior team.

Aldridge led the all-staters in scoring with a 27.8 average, followed closely by Lynch's 27.3 mark and May's 27.1 figure. Stiegemeier hit 26.8 points a game, Williams 25.5, Powell 21.5 and Hanners 18.0.

Second team berths went to Dave Kyle of East Liverpool, Mike Lovenguth of Portsmouth, Ken Brooks of Findlay, James Abrams of Cleveland East Tech, Bradley Robinson of Akron Central-Hower, Larry Allen of Hamilton Taft, Bob Smyth of Xenia Beavercreek and Rick Lillenthal of Cambridge.

Third team members included Earl Hill of Alliance, Randy Foster of Newark, Chuck Williams of Columbus East, Dave Smith of Athens, Curt Shellabarger of Colina, Bernard Pope of Toledo Scott, Dave Bromley of Kettering Fairmont West and Mike Harris of Columbus North.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Associated Press 1972 Class AAA All-Ohio high school basketball team selected with the help of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

FIRST TEAM—Craig Taylor, 6-9 Springfield North senior, 18.1 point average; Craig Lynch, 6-6 Toledo Start senior, 27.3; Scott May, 6-5 Sandusky senior, 27.1; Dave Hanners, 6-foot Columbus Walnut Ridge senior, 18.0; Jay Powell, 6-1 Boardman senior, 21.5; Andy Stiegemeier, 6-5 Kent Roosevelt senior, 26.8; Archie Aldridge, 6-4 Middletown junior, 27.8, and Brian Williams, 6-4 Columbus South junior, 25.5.

SECOND TEAM—Dave Kyle, 6-3 East Liverpool senior, 19.0; Mike Lovenguth, 6-5 Portsmouth senior, 22.0; Ken Brooks, 6-2 Findlay senior, 24.1; James Abrams, 6-4 Cleveland East Tech senior, 20.0; Bradley Robinson, 6-7 Akron Central-Hower senior, 18.0; Larry Allen, 6-5 Hamilton Taft senior, 23.5; Bob Smyth, 6-8 Xenia Beavercreek senior, 23.0, and Rick Lillenthal, 6-3 Cambridge senior, 15.0.

THIRD TEAM—Earl Hill, 6-6 Alliance senior; Randy Foster, 6-6 Newark senior; Chuck Williams, 6-2 Columbus East senior; Dave Smith, 6-1 Athens senior; Curt Shellabarger, 6-7 Celina senior; Bernard Pope, 6-4 Toledo Scott senior; Dave Bromley, 6-2 Kettering Fairmont West senior, and Mike Harris, 6-6 Columbus North junior.

Philadelphia Phillies Whip St. Louis In Exhibition, 7-1

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cards—or, rather, the ex-Cards—were stacked Sunday in favor of the Philadelphia Phillies.

And when the Phils were through playing with their loaded deck, they had trounced St. Louis 7-1 in an exhibition baseball game on the strength of three aces—former Cardinals Steve Carlton, Willie Montanez and Tim McCarver.

Carlton, traded from St. Louis to Philadelphia last month, denied he was fired up at facing his ex-mates for the first time, but he hurled six innings, allowing one run.

Montanez, one of two players the Phillies acquired from St. Louis two years ago as compensation for Curt Flood's failure to report, lashed out two doubles and a single, driving in four runs. McCarver, acquired in the Flood-Richie Allen deal, doubled home Philadelphia's first run and added two singles.

The Los Angeles Dodgers rapped out 14 hits and Willie

Crawford and Bill Buckner combined for five RBI in an 8-5 triumph over the Houston Astros.

Blame FHA For City Segregation

CHICAGO (AP) — Some 1,000 inner city residents at the National Housing Conference condemned the Federal Housing Administration Sunday as being "chiefly responsible for the resegregation of our cities."

The delegates, ending their two-day meeting, agreed to a resolution stating that "real estate operators use the FHA to segregate our communities by steering blacks, Latin Americans, and other minority groups into fringe communities. This forces minorities and low-income families to buy only in certain areas, which in turn puts pressure on these areas to change."

The FHA provides low cost housing loans to qualified citizens.

The delegates representing black, Latin American and white ethnic groups in 39 states, sent to their national steering committee a resolution calling for George Romney, secretary of housing and urban development; George Vavoulis, Midwest director of HUD, and John Warner, Chicago director of HUD, "to be immediately fired."

The proposal charged that the three men are guilty of "incompetence in responding to the pressure of speculators and money lenders and not to the people in our dying cities."

The conference is to reconvene April 29-30 in Baltimore.

The delegates also voted to continue the conference's work through a national steering committee, whose 370 members will include representatives of each of the 72 delegations which were at the Chicago meeting.

Urge Help To Minorities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seeking to give minority business enterprises a shot in the arm, President Nixon today proposed legislation to liberalize rules on loans to the minority-run firms.

Nixon noted that under present law a minority enterprise, small-business investment company (MESBIC) must have $1 million of private capital to qualify for Small Business Administration (SBA) funds. Nixon asked that the quota be lowered to $500,000.

The President proposed also that some of the funds SBA now loans to MESBICs be advanced in the form of preferred-stock purchases.

And he asked that the interest rate on SBA loans be lowered by three percentage points below normal agency rates during the first five years of the loan.

He asked for $63.6 million to finance the Commerce Department's Office of Minority Business Enterprises in the 1973 fiscal year, an increase of $20 million over the current level.

the Atlanta Braves beat the New York Mets 3-1 and Sam McDowell pitched six strong innings and smacked a two-run double as the San Francisco Giants edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2.

The Minnesota Twins scored an unearned run in the ninth inning on Doug Griffin's throwing error and nipped the Boston Red Sox 5-4 and Jim Panther, acquired in the Denny McLain trade, pitched three scoreless innings in the Texas Rangers' 8-6 conquest of the Kansas City Royals.

Lakers Rip Warriors; Win 162-99

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Routed? Whipped? Stomped? Thumped?

How do you describe the worst defeat in National Basketball Association history? That's what the Golden State Warriors are asking.

The Los Angeles Lakers had everything going Sunday night and routed (whipped, stomped, thumped) the Warriors 162-99. The Lakers had seven players in double figures to break the 62-point difference total set in 1960 by the old Syracuse Nationals against the New York Knicks.

"Just a perfect game," Lakers' Coach Bill Sharman said. "It's what we've been looking for all year—quick movement, great shooting, solid defense."

Nate Archibald scored 45 points in Cincinnati's 135-103 victory over Buffalo. The 6 foot guard from Texas-El Paso is the third highest scorer in the league, and previously had games this season of 46 points and twice 35 points.

The Royals had a nine-point advantage going into the fourth quarter but erupted for 47 points for their largest score of the season.

In other NBA games, Chicago beat Detroit 115-107, Philadelphia topped Seattle 115-100, Atlanta downed Cleveland 115-105, Baltimore defeated Boston 125-112.

Wilcox Entrenches Self With Indians

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Milt Wilcox further entrenched himself as the Cleveland Indians' No. 2 starter behind Gaylord Perry and reliever Chuck Machemehl redeemed himself and may have won a job as a right handed relief specialist as a result of Sunday's 4-1 victory over the California Angels here.

Wilcox pitched six innings, giving up six hits and one run—the first run he has allowed in 16 innings of exhibition work. Machemehl, who was blasted by manager Ken Aspromonte for a disgraceful outing last Tuesday, came back with three scoreless innings. He surrendered three hits, all to left-handed batters.

Life Claims Administration Tampered In Crime Cases

NEW YORK (AP) — Life magazine charges that the Nixon administration "has seriously tampered with justice in San Diego" in an effort to protect some of its most important friends there from criminal prosecutions. The administration denies the charge.

In an investigative report published Sunday, Life said it had learned that "the administration has in several instances taken steps to neutralize and frustrate its own law-enforcement officials" by delaying prosecutions, curtailing investigations and other means.

The article by Life associate editors Denny Walsh and Tom Flaherty also said that President Nixon personally chose San Diego for the site of the Republican national convention next August and that he considered it his "lucky city."

A White House spokesman denied Sunday night that Nixon had had a preference for the convention site. In an interview last July, however, White House communications director Herbert Klein said Nixon favored San Diego.

Life said its investigation, which began last July, disclosed that the administration intervened in three cases, involving C. Arnholt Smith, a long-time friend and financial ally of Nixon; Frank Curran, a former San Diego mayor, and John Alessio, a real estate investor and head of a legal bookmaking operation in Mexico.

The magazine said its probe showed that:

—Harry Steward, U.S. attorney for Southern California, "squashed" an investigation of reports that illegal political contributions were being funneled through a company controlled by Smith. Steward had been appointed by Nixon on Smith's recommendation, Life said.

—When former Democratic Mayor Curran was indicted in 1970 for allegedly taking a bribe from a cab firm to help raise taxi fares, the administration refused to let a federal investigator testify for the prosecution.

—During a criminal investigation for tax evasion of Alessio, Smith went to Washington to plead Alessio's case with Nixon, Life said it learned from sources. It said that in an interview Smith denied talking to the President about Alessio.

Young Fort Wayne Bachelor Adopts 11-Year-Old Boy

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — There are new sounds and a new look today at Neal Tiffany's bachelor pad.

Tiffany, 31 and single, brought his adopted son, Marshall Brown, home from Indianapolis late Friday.

Tiffany, toy buyer for Hardware Wholesale here representing 1,100 Midwestern hardware stores, signed the final papers Friday that started a one-year trial period before the adoption can be completed.

The 11-year-old orphan was given to the Children's Bureau of Indianapolis a few days after his birth. He has lived in three foster homes, returning from the last one in January to the guardian's home in Indianapolis.

"About a year and a half ago, I read of the first bachelor father case in California," Tiffany told newsmen during a brief ceremony at the Indianapolis bureau.

"I haven't been fortunate enough yet to find the right woman, but I've always wanted to raise children," he went on.

He submitted his adoption request to Fort Wayne agencies and through a referral system his name went into the bureau files at Indianapolis.

When Marshall returned in January, the link was made.

Asked how he felt about his new life, Marshall bubbled, "I've been in foster homes but no one ever wanted to adopt me before."

A slight youngster with an easy smile, blond Marshall related his love of all sports, especially baseball, and said he'd like to be a fireman "because I'd like to help people."

Tiffany, an affable, slightly balding young man with a red beard, indicated the next few weeks would be low key. No special events are planned; just more getting acquainted and doing the normal things a father and son do.

Questions Taxpayers Ask

Q — Can employers now start hiring employees that will qualify them for the new work incentive tax credit that was added to the law by the Revenue Act of 1971?

A — Yes. Employers can hire persons that will qualify them for the new work incentive tax credit. The credit, equal to 20 per cent of cash wages or salaries paid to a qualified employee for his first 12 months of employment, may be claimed by those who employ workers under the Work Incentive (WIN) program. The aim of this program is to help people end their dependence on welfare by placing them in jobs or on-the-job training. The Labor Department must certify that these employees are placed under the WIN program and did not displace other workers.

For more information on the work incentive tax credit mail a postcard to your Internal Revenue district office and ask for Publication 553, Highlights of 1971 Changes in the Tax Law. It's available free.

Q — Do I have to bring my tax return to an IRS office to have my retirement income credit computed?

A — No. Simply fill in the necessary information indicated on the instructions on your Schedule R and Form 1040 and mail them in the envelope that came with your tax forms package.

Q — I just received a 1972 estimated tax return in the mail. Do I have to start filing estimated returns or can I just increase my withholding?

A — Some taxpayers find it convenient to increase their withholding tax to avoid filing declarations of estimated tax. If you do so, make sure the balance you estimate to be due on your 1972 Form 1040 will be less than $100.

Q — Can I deduct ground rent on my home?

A — In some cases. Payments you make annually or periodically on a redeemable ground rent are deductible as interest. Payments on a nonredeemable ground rent are not deductible as interest, but may only be deducted as rent to the extent they are a business expense or are attributable to rental property held for the production of income. Amounts paid to redeem a ground rent are payments to acquire an interest in the title to the property and are not deductible.

Q — How can I tell whether I should take the standard deduction on my Federal return or itemize my deductions?

A — It usually will be to your advantage to itemize if: you are a homeowner paying interest and taxes; you had unusually large medical and dental expenses during the year; you paid alimony, suffered a major uninsured casualty loss, or made large contributions to qualified charities.

If you have any doubts as to which method will result in a lower tax, compute your tax both ways.

Q — Do you get your refund any quicker if you file early in the filing season?

A — Yes. Because many returns are filed around April 17 deadline, it will be to your advantage to file early. If you file your return now and it contains no errors, you should receive your refund in four to six weeks.

Q — Are annuity benefits taxable?

A — You may be able to exclude part or all of these benefits from income depending upon how much you previously contributed to the plan and how many months it will take you to recover this amount starting from the date of the first benefit payment. Generally, if you did not contribute to the cost of the annuity, the benefits are fully taxable. For more information, drop a postcard to your IRS district office and ask for a free copy of Publication 575, Tax Information on Pensions and Annuities.

Criminal Code Changes Face Long Debate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Long debate is expected in the Ohio House Tuesday over a bill to update Ohio's 157-year-old criminal code.

The measure is controversial with provisions such as one to repeal laws dealing with sex crimes and could become even more so if representatives seek to amend it to ban capital punishment and legalize abortion.

The Ohio Senate, meanwhile, will be asked Tuesday to concur in House changes in its constitutional amendment proposal to lift the state ban on lotteries.

If passed, the issue will be put on the May 2 ballot.

Also to be before the Senate Tuesday are constitutional amendments providing for the governor and lieutenant governor to run as a team, the removal of the lieutenant governor as presiding officer of the Senate and authorization of an expense allowance for legislators.

On Wednesday, the House is expected to consider bills to repeal laws restricting the hours and types of work of female employees and to establish the legislative auditor's office to monitor welfare spending.

The Urban and Highway Affairs Committee takes up the strip mine bill again Wednesday and Chairman Robert Stockdale, R-31, said he hopes to put the measure to a vote at the session.

Gov. John Gilligan's administration plans to attempt to return the bill to nearly the form it had when it left the House Oct. 28. The administration contends that subcommittee amendments weakened the bill.

WHS Chapter Celebrates FHA Week

This is Future Homemakers of America week throughout the United States, involving more than a half million members including those of the Westfall High School chapter.

Local plans of observance of National Future Homemakers of America Week, announced by chapter president Becky Shannon, include attending services at the Williamsport United Methodist Church March 19; staging a talent show for fellow Westfall students today and participation in the March 23 Creative Arts Festival Style Show at 7:30 p.m.

FHA, now celebrating its 26th year since its establishment as a national organization for home economics students in secondary schools, offers students an opportunity to grow as an individual, to contribute to home and family living, develop leadership and cooperation, serve others, prepare for a vocation or profession, make new friends and find new experiences and make creative and constructive use of leisure time.

Officers of the Westfall Chapter are:

Mrs. Diane Smith and Mrs. Jane Vance, adult advisers; Becky Shannon, president; Marilyn Keller, vice president; Diane Morrison, secretary; Elaine Clark, treasurer; Cora Whitset, news reporter; Bev McDill, photographer; Jerri Furniss, historian; Karen Faunaugh, song leader; Christy Hanson, recreation leader; Susan Hillman, parliamentary.

Future Homemakers of America is a non-profit, self-supporting organization officially sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education, through the Division of Vocational and Technical Education and the American Home Economics Assn.

Theme of National FHA Week for 1972 is Profiles of Youth.

Thieves Torch Stolen Auto

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Don Thompson recovered a stolen car 8:37 p.m. Saturday that had been stripped and then burned.

The car, owned by Wayne Enke, Columbus, was stolen earlier in the day. Thompson spotted the car on the Harrisburg - Fairfield Road still in flames. He believed the car was destroyed by a deliberately set fire.

Car Parts Stolen

City police are investigating the theft of $200 in auto parts taken from the garage of Terry Valentine, 146 Walnut St.

Two heads for a 327 cubic inch Chevrolet engine, a four-barrel carburetor and manifold, a starter and a 290 cam with solid lifters were apparently taken from a garage shelf Sunday.

Heath, Pompidou Conclude Meet

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — British Prime Minister Edward Heath and French President Georges Pompidou concluded a weekend summit meeting in accord on several economic issues but disagreed about the political framework of the future European community.

The two leaders held what both sides described as fruitful talks in an excellent atmosphere at Heath's country place near London. Friction over Pompidou's sudden announcement last week of a referendum in France over enlargement of the European Common Market was reported to have been eased.

The main disagreement, aides disclosed, was over the site and role of the political secretariat planned for the European Economic Community when it is enlarged from the original six members to 10, including Britain. It was decided the question will be pursued at the meeting of all 10 countries to be held in October.

Pompidou, officials said, wanted to base the political organ in Paris to emphasize its separation from the economic bodies in Brussels. He was said to have stressed France's opposition to supranational political decision-making.

Heath contended that Brussels should be the seat of the new political secretariat, and the EEC should try to coordinate the political relations of its members and maintain close links between economic and political organs.

The two statesmen were reportedly agreed:

—On the importance of narrowing the margins of fluctuation permitted national currencies.

—That the U.S. dollar should become fully convertible again and that gold must have a definite role in any new international monetary arrangements.

—That ratification of West Germany's treaties with the Soviet Union and Poland may be blocked, but this is an internal German matter.

Aides said Pompidou flatly opposed East-West troop cuts in Europe while Heath took the North Atlantic Treaty Organization position that negotiations can start if Moscow fulfills certain conditions. Heath was much less enthusiastic than the French leader about launching preparations soon for the all-European security conference the Russians want.

Baptists Plan Parochial Schools For Middletown

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Grace Baptist Church officials, disturbed about "permissiveness" in public schools, plan to establish a parochial school system here.

Plans call for a preparatory school for 4 and 5 years olds to open Wednesday. Classes for kindergarten through sixth grade pupils are scheduled to start Sept. 1; classes for grades six through eight to get underway by September of 1973; and high school classes to begin September of 1974.

"The new system will be fully accredited when it is opened," the Rev. Donald White, associate pastor and education administrator for the independent, fundamental church, said Sunday. "We have been working with the Ohio Department of Welfare to meet all requirements" in opening the school system.

The Rev. White said that plans of the church officials were confirmed by results of a survey of 229 junior and senior high school students who attend Grace Baptist. The students indicated they support such a system.

The Rev. White said the survey also disclosed that 73 per cent of the students said they have heard a teacher use vulgar language, 37 per cent said they have heard a teacher take the Lord's name in vain, and 29 per cent said they have been approached to purchase or accept marijuana or narcotics.

The survey also showed that 61 per cent said they have school friends who use drugs, and 13 per cent said they knew of a teacher who uses drugs.

"We knew all these things were happening," the Rev. White said. "We heard them from students all along. The survey substantiates what we already felt to be the case—that we can give better education than the state school system from the spiritual aspects, higher moral standards and a higher academic level, and with less trouble."

The system will have a designated school board with the church pastor, the Rev. Howard Sears, serving as president. Classes will be held at the present church and will be expanded when a new, larger church will be completed.

Pupils from any school district will be welcome, the officials said.

Within the next five years, between 500 and 800 pupils will enroll in the system, church officials estimated. Tuition for the preparatory school will be about $20 a month, while stu-

OSU Promotes Engineering Enrollment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University is intensifying its efforts to recruit engineering students in the face of a 35 per cent drop in engineering enrollment at OSU in the past two years.

"It's a national trend," says Dean Harold Bolz of the College of Engineering. "And if we don't graduate enough engineers to help industry keep the technology up and prices down, we'll go out of the production business."

Bolz said enrollments are sagging because of news stories about the engineering job slump, the bad image engineers have among ecologists, and the belief many students have that their impact on society will be greater in other fields.

Bolz said none of these reasons is based on fact. He says any engineering graduate who wants a job can get one, and engineers have been instrumental in solving some of society's toughest problems.

Treatment For Heroin Addicts Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heroin addicts are sick and should be given medical treatment instead of punished, according to a special study on big-city crime done by an American Bar Association committee.

The committee, headed by Washington lawyer Edward Bennett Williams, proposes an experiment using heroin itself as a last resort to lure addicts to newly established clinics for treatment.

But, the report stressed, heroin should not be administered as a medical tool until it can be proven to pose no danger in such treatment.

The study released Saturday and entitled "New Perspectives on Urban Crime," will be presented to the bar association's meeting in San Francisco in August.

It cited a 9 per cent rise in city crime in the first nine months of 1971, with the root causes of violent crime being substandard housing, racism, heroin addiction, inadequate public services, inferior schools and poverty.

It estimated there are 560,000 heroin addicts in the nation who commit 33 to 50 per cent of the holdups, burglaries, muggings and thefts in the 34 major urban centers.

Life Claims Administration Tampered In Crime Cases

NEW YORK (AP) — Life magazine charges that the Nixon administration "has seriously tampered with justice in San Diego" in an effort to protect some of its most important friends there from criminal prosecutions. The administration denies the charge.

In an investigative report published Sunday, Life said it had learned that "the administration has in several instances taken steps to neutralize and frustrate its own law-enforcement officials" by delaying prosecutions, curtailing investigations and other means.

The article by Life associate editors Denny Walsh and Tom Flaherty also said that President Nixon personally chose San Diego for the site of the Republican national convention next August and that he considered it his "lucky city."

A White House spokesman denied Sunday night that Nixon had had a preference for the convention site. In an interview last July, however, White House communications director Herbert Klein said Nixon favored San Diego.

Young Fort Wayne Bachelor Adopts 11-Year-Old Boy

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — There are new sounds and a new look today at Neal Tiffany's bachelor pad.

Tiffany, 31 and single, brought his adopted son, Marshall Brown, home from Indianapolis late Friday.

Tiffany, toy buyer for Hardware Wholesalers here representing 1,100 Midwestern hardware stores, signed the final papers Friday that started a one-year trial period before the adoption can be completed.

The 11-year-old orphan was given to the Children's Bureau of Indianapolis a few days after his birth. He has lived in three foster homes, returning from the last one in January to the guardian's home in Indianapolis.

"About a year and a half ago, I read of the first bachelor father case in California," Tiffany told newsmen during a brief ceremony at the Indianapolis bureau.

"I haven't been fortunate enough yet to find the right woman, but I've always wanted to raise children," he went on.

He submitted his adoption request to Fort Wayne agencies and through a referral system his name went into the bureau files at Indianapolis.

When Marshall returned in January, the link was made.

Asked how he felt about his new life, Marshall bubbled, "I've been in foster homes but no one ever wanted to adopt me before."

A slight youngster with an easy smile, blond Marshall related his love of all sports, especially baseball, and said he wants to be a fireman "because I'd like to help people."

Tiffany, an affable, slightly balding young man with a red beard, indicated the next few weeks would be low key. No special events are planned; just more getting acquainted and doing the normal things a father and son do.

Aides said Pompidou flatly opposed East-West troop cuts in Europe while Heath took the North Atlantic Treaty Organization position that negotiations can start if Moscow fulfills certain conditions. Heath was much less enthusiastic than the French leader about launching preparations soon for the all-European security conference the Russians want.

Baptists Plan Parochial Schools For Middletown

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Grace Baptist Church officials, distributed about "permissiveness" in public schools, plan to establish a parochial school system here.

Plans call for a preparatory school for 4 and 5 years olds to open Wednesday. Classes for kindergarten through sixth grade pupils are scheduled to start Sept. 1; classes for grades six through eight to get underway by September of 1973; and high school classes to begin September of 1974.

"The new system will be fully accredited when it is opened," the Rev. Donald White, associate pastor and education administrator for the independent, fundamental church, said Sunday. "We have been working with the Ohio Department of Welfare to meet all requirements" in opening the school system.

The Rev. White said that plans of the church officials were confirmed by results of a survey of 229 junior and senior high school students who attend Grace Baptist. The students indicated they support such a system.

The Rev. White said the survey also disclosed that 73 per cent of the students said they have heard a teacher use vulgar language, 37 per cent said they have heard a teacher take the Lord's name in vain, and 29 per cent said they have been approached to purchase or accept marijuana or narcotics.

The survey also showed that 61 per cent said they have school friends who use drugs, and 13 per cent said they knew of a teacher who uses drugs.

"We knew all these things were happening," the Rev. White said. "We heard them from students all along. The survey substantiates what we already felt to be the case—that we can give better education than the state school system from the spiritual aspects, higher moral standards and a higher academic level, and with less trouble."

The system will have a designated school board with the church pastor, the Rev. Howard Sears, serving as president. Classes will be held at the present church and will be expanded when a new, larger church will be completed.

Pupils from any school district will be welcome, the officials said.

Within the next five years, between 500 and 800 pupils will enroll in the system, church officials estimated. Tuition for the preparatory school will be about $20 a month, while students in all grades will pay about $40 a month.

OSU Promotes Engineering Enrollment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University is intensifying its efforts to recruit engineering students in the face of a 35 per cent drop in engineering enrollment at OSU in the past two years.

"It's a national trend," says Dean Harold Bolz of the College of Engineering. "And if we don't graduate enough engineers to help industry keep the technology up and prices down, we'll go out of the production business."

Bolz said enrollments are sagging because of news stories about the engineering job slump, the bad image engineers have among ecologists, and the belief many students have that their impact on society will be greater in other fields.

Bolz said none of these reasons is based on fact. He says any engineering graduate who wants a job can get one, and engineers have been instrumental in solving some of society's toughest problems.

Treatment For Heroin Addicts Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heroin addicts are sick and should be given medical treatment instead of punished, according to a special study on big-city crime done by an American Bar Association committee.

The committee, headed by Washington lawyer Edward Bennett Williams, proposes an experiment using heroin itself as a last resort to lure addicts to newly established clinics for treatment.

But, the report stressed, heroin should not be administered as a medical tool until it can be proven to pose no danger in such treatment.

The study released Saturday and entitled "New Perspectives on Urban Crime," will be presented to the bar association's meeting in San Francisco in August.

It cited a 9 per cent rise in city crime in the first nine months of 1971, with the root causes of violent crime being substandard housing, racism, heroin addiction, inadequate public services, inferior schools and poverty.

It estimated there are 560,000 heroin addicts in the nation who commit 33 to 50 per cent of the holdups, burglaries, muggings and thefts in the 34 major urban centers.
